

Constantine Orders Naval Vessels Now In Italy Homeward

Believed to Foreshadow Defiance of The Allies Threat of Hostile Action Against Salonika

MOVE PREVENTS DETENTION OF NAVY

London, Nov. 20.—The Greek situation is considered critical today. Private advices from German sources from Copenhagen that the Athens government has ordered all Greek vessels from French and Italian ports immediately is generally taken as a hint that King Constantine means to defy the allies. The order is accepted as an attempt to forestall detention of Greek craft by the French and Italians, a step which England has already taken.

That the allies have served an ultimatum on Greece is not yet confirmed. This report also comes from Germany. Lord Kitchener was to see Constantine today unless the queen prevailed on her husband to refuse his lordship an audience. She failed in the case of Denis Coghlin, the French representative.

Vienna, Nov. 20. (By United Press)—Gorizia is burning in many places today. The Italians have thrown 2000 shells into the town. Many of the inhabitants have been killed. The property damage is enormous. From a military standpoint, however, the Austrians have accomplished little. The Austrians firmly hold all their original positions and are refusing attack after attack. The increased intensity of the attack has been an incident to the renewed Italian assault all along the Isonzo line. Everywhere the Austrians are holding their own.

Vienna, Nov. 20. (By United Press)—A crushing Austrian defeat of the Montenegrins near Priboi is announced by the war office today. The town is a Serbian village on the edge of Austria and close to the Montenegrin frontier.

HEAVY GALE SWEEP OVER DUBOIS YESTERDAY

Did Some Property Damage—Blew Side of School House at No. 1 Shaft—Other Damage

A sixty-mile gale swept over this section of the state early yesterday morning, doing considerable damage in its path. Windows were shattered, trees blown down in several places and portions of roofs carried away. The storm raged for several hours. Again yesterday afternoon the wind gained considerable velocity, which was accompanied by a heavy rain. No one was injured by the effects of the storm, however.

In outlying sections of DuBois the worst damage reported was from No. 1 shaft, where a side of a school house was blown in yesterday morning during the gale. The building was damaged to such an extent that there was no school session yesterday.

There were many minor damages to property in the borough. A skylight was blown in at the Hotel Logan. Portions of several tin roofs about town were blown off and carried some little distance. Signs were blown down, and at the Driving park the western side of the fence was blown in.

From all of the surrounding country districts come reports of damage to trees, but the property damage was in no instance reported as large.

In Punksawney where the wind manifested itself for nearly four hours a double window on South Gilpin street, was plucked from its frame by the gale, carried over the porch roof and violently tossed onto the floor of the porch. Fragments of the glass broke another window in the rear of the house.

Fortunately telephone and telegraph communication were not seriously disturbed by the storm.

Several peculiar pranks were played by the wind about the streets, but these did no material damage—DuBois Courier.

BURBANK STILL AT IT

Potatoes Wizard Develops Lined to Twice Normal Size

Santa Rosa, Cal., Nov. 20.—(By United Press).—The manufacture of United oil may be revolutionized by a new production of Luther Burbank's. He has grown a new white flax with seeds twice the ordinary size and more productive.

The regular meeting of the Women's club will be held on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the rooms on Market street. A full attendance is requested. 11-20-21.

CARRANZA BEGINS RECONSTRUCTION OF RUINED MEXICO

Villa Making Last Stand At Agua Prieta—History of His Disaffection

Jealousy, Rivalry and Mistrust Underlying Motives in Long Struggle Between Chieftains.

Washington, Nov. 20.—(By United Press).—The present breach between Carranza and Villa was opened a year ago, by jealousy, rivalry and mistrust. Peace was short lived following Carranza's entry into Mexico City in August, 1914. A month later Villa began his revolt against Carranza, who was supported by Gen. Obregon. Gen. Obregon, military rival of Obregon, sided with Villa.

The Villa-Carranza breach widened when Villa demanded that Carranza proclaim himself provisional president, according to the "Plan of Guadalupe," name a cabinet and call elections. Carranza did not do this. It would have disqualified him for the presidency.

The Aguas Calientes convention was then called to mediate. Carranza claimed the convention was packed by Villa delegates planning his overthrow. The convention, in which Zapata was represented, declared Carranza a rebel, proclaimed the new Constitutionalist government, elected Eulalio Gutierrez provisional president. The Villista armies captured Mexico City.

This was the strongest point in Villa's efforts. From this moment his power waned. Carranza and Obregon retreated to Vera Cruz. Villa and Zapata controlled three fourths of Mexico.

Defection of Gutierrez started the disintegration of Villa's power. Gutierrez, outraged by Villa's cruelties and barbarities, he said, left Mexico City with several thousand troops under Gen. Lucio Blanco. His counter-revolt collapsed. The Conventionists elected Roque Gonzales Garza president. Gutierrez fled to the mountains. Obregon gradually built up Carranza's army. Mexico City was captured and re-captured a half dozen times.

Villa's forces were gradually pushed northward. His most crushing defeat was at Celaya last spring. There in desperate charges he lost 6,000 men. Superstitious belief in his military infallibility was shattered. He never recovered.

Five years of revolution had prostrated the country. Fields were untilled or devastated. Live stock was confiscated. Famine swept the country. Business collapsed. Villa's army was pushed back to the border.

The President last July made another move to pacify Mexico by calling representatives of six Latin American countries to aid the U. S. Carranza would not participate and, with Villa apparently a broken reed, the conferees recommended recognition of the Carranza government.

The last desperate struggle of Villa at Agua Prieta, opposite Douglas, Ariz., having failed, today Carranza is entering upon the reconstruction of Mexico.

KING COFFEE'S DAY TO REIGN

Santa Francisco, Nov. 20.—King Coffee reigned supreme at the Panama-Pacific exposition today. At the request of President Cabrera, of Guatemala, the day was specially designated as "Coffee Day" on the exposition calendar, with a view to calling public attention to the enormous amount and high quality of the breakfast berry produced each year in the Central American republic. The celebration of the day centered at the Guatemalan pavilion, where a marimba band entertained the visitors with music while delicious Guatemalan coffee steaming hot was dispensed to all comers.

DANCE—Opera house hall, Wednesday evening, "Dutch" Guelich, 11 years.

HOW THE LATEST LANDSLIDE CHOKED THE PANAMA CANAL
This photograph, taken October 26th near Gold Hill, pictures vividly the problem confronting the canal officials. Rock and earth have moved down from the heights on either side and forced the mud at the bottom out of the water. In the foreground is an island which began to form just before the picture was made. It rose and spread until it joined the sides of the canal. The mass in the background, through which a narrow channel had just been blasted, came up first as an island and grew until it blocked the entire canal at this point.

OSCEOLA CANCELS GAME TODAY WITH CLEARFIELD HIGH

Curwensville Game to Be Played, Weather Permitting This Afternoon

Fast Ridgeway Players Will Be Here for Game Thanksgiving Day. Team in for Strenuous Practice.

One section of the double-header to have been played by the High School today has been cancelled, Osceola High having advised the local boys that they will not be able to play. Weather permitting, the Curwensville game will be played at Curwensville. There is not much doubt as to the result of this game, now that more of the regulars will be available for it on account of the cancellation of the Osceola date.

On Thanksgiving day Clearfield High will meet the strong Ridgeway H. S. team on the local grid. The Ridgeway players have had a successful season, and are reckoned one of the strongest high school teams in this section. The game will be called at the Driving park promptly at three o'clock.

Every opportunity will be taken next week by Coach Redding to put the team in trim for the Ridgeway game, and a series of strenuous practices are scheduled.

LOCAL BOY SELECTED AS FRESHMAN TOASTMASTER

John Fulford Presides at Class Function at Lebanon College

The Freshmen class of Lebanon Valley college honored John Fulford of Clearfield, by selecting him as toastmaster for the class banquet which was held on Monday evening of this week at the Berkshire hotel, Reading. Mr. Fulford has been very active as a class leader ever since entering L. V. C. in September and so was selected to head the list of speakers for the occasion mentioned. He acquitted himself in a creditable manner which, in a measure, reflects honor upon the high school from which he graduated last June.

TWO THANKSGIVING DINNERS TO BE SERVED AT DIMELING

Table Reservations Now Being Made For Elaborate Holiday Spread

By special request of a number of patrons, The Dimeling will repeat last year's Thanksgiving program by serving a elaborate Thanksgiving dinner both at 12 o'clock noon and at 6 o'clock in the evening. This is done to accommodate those who desire to have Thanksgiving dinner at midday. Table reservations are now being received for both services.

On Thanksgiving evening the Felix club will give its annual dance, which will be largely attended by local and out of town people. A number of dinner parties will precede the dance.

ON VISIT TO CALIFORNIA

Mr. and Mrs. Fred K. Boyer and sons Frederick and Thomas, have gone for an extended visit to California. They expect to visit the fair, also Western friends before returning. Mr. and Mrs. Boyer were formerly of Woodland but have lived in Anaconda, Montana for the last six years.

ENTERTAINMENT AT Y. M. C. A. TUESDAY TO BE RARE TREAT

Seymour—Highly Spoken of By Musical Leaders—Soloist in Philadelphia Choir

Chalk Sketches by Secretary Lewis to Form Interesting Part of the Program.

A unique and artistic entertainment "A Medley of Chalk and Music," will be given at Y. M. C. A. next Tuesday evening, November 23, at eight o'clock, at which the feature of the evening will be the presentation of Arthur Lockhart Seymour, one of the leading baritone singers of Philadelphia. Mr. Seymour is a rising young artist with a brilliant future, being only 24 years of age.

At the age of 19 he was the soloist in the Bethlehem Presbyterian Church, one of the largest in Broad Street. He comes to Clearfield most highly recommended by the leading musicians of that city. He possesses a wonderful breath and beauty of tone and also a wide range. He is of an artistic temperament, with a fine personality and appearance and the quality of his tone is pure. He is a pupil of the famous British teacher, F. Edmund Edmunds.

Never before has Clearfield had the opportunity to attend a concert given by such a noted singer and it will probably be many years before one of his class will come to this town again. He was booked for this entertainment only through the personal efforts of Secretary Lewis, who has heard this man sing on several occasions and being from Philadelphia was able to secure him.

The chalk part of the entertainment will be given by Secretary Lewis of the local Y. M. C. A. Mr. Lewis is a skilled artist in this sort of entertainment and the people will see something that they have never before had the opportunity to see.

Mr. Seymour will be accompanied by Miss Martha Hames on the piano, whose talent and ability is well known to the people of Clearfield.

The proceeds of the entertainment will go for the improvements which have recently been made on the building. All who enjoy good music should avail themselves of this unusual opportunity to hear this talented artist.

The following ladies will act as patronesses: Mrs. Allison O. Smith, Mrs. Frederick B. Kerr, Mrs. Chas. T. Kurtz, Mrs. Singleton Bell, Mrs. F. B. Read, Mrs. John Martin, Miss Lois Denning, Miss Ella Shaw, Mrs. E. E. Jameson, Mrs. W. L. Betts. Tickets are on sale at the Y. M. C. A. and also at the Woman's club.

DEBATING SOCIETY TAKES PLACE OF LITERARY CLUB

Clearfield High Elects Officers For New Organization
The C. H. S. Debating club which has succeeded the school's Literary society, elected its first officers yesterday. The officers are: Alvin Brothers, president, Malcolm Cox, vice-president and Pauline Neff, secretary. On account of the congested condition of the school literary meetings were inconvenient to hold and a debating club was organized. Only interested pupils are required to take part.

UTAH GOVERNOR IS HOSTILE AGAINST I. W. W. AGITATION

Execution of Hillstrom Cause of Wild Speeches By His Fellow Agitators.

Governor Threatens to Clear State of Them if Incendiary Speeches do Not Cease.

Salt Lake City, Nov. 20. (By United Press).—The Hillstrom case was officially a closed incident here today. Governor Spry's threat to drive the Industrial Workers of the World out of Utah and investigation of William Busky, missing in Seattle after a vain attempt to save Hillstrom through an alibi, attracted only mild attention. The general public believed Joseph Hillstrom guilty of the Morrison murder. Hillstrom's body was to be shipped to W. B. Haywood at Chicago following simple funeral services here tomorrow.

"GYP" DAUGHTERY AGAIN IN TOILS OF THEFT CHARGES

Notorious Character Has Served Three Prison Terms for Stealing

"Gyp" Daugherty, a local character with a long prison record, is again in the toils, this time charged with the theft of a bicycle from John Fauntmore, of Clearfield, and in recent years has stood almost alone in his hold upon the imagination of the Clearfield people.

Daugherty was recently pardoned from the Western Pen on account of illness. He has served three terms, each one of them for stealing.

FIREMEN POSTPONE TEST OF TRUCK UNTIL NEXT WEEK

High Winds Prevailing Today Makes Test Tonight Impracticable

On account of the high wind prevailing today, the firemen have decided to postpone the additional test of the new chemical truck until more favorable weather conditions obtain. The demonstration will take place early next week, weather permitting.

DEPENDS ON REPUBLICANS SAYS PROGRESSIVE LEADER

Medill McCormick Says Reunion of Parties Up to G. O. P.

New York, Nov. 20. (By United Press).—Whether the Progressives will unite with the Republicans in 1916 depends entirely upon the Republicans. Medill McCormick, Illinois Progressive leader, declared today before leaving for Washington for a conference with Colonel Roosevelt.

TAFT SEES NOTHING BUT REPUBLICAN FOR 1916

Washington, Nov. 20. (By United Press).—It looks like a Republican year to William Howard Taft. The ex-President happy in the loss of considerable adversities and the fact that he can be a plain observer of things politically, said so today. He was in Washington for a meeting of the Red Cross.

FOR RENT—Furnished rooms on Market street. Inquire at Progress office. N 20 tf.

San Francisco Bid $200,000; Democrats Are Sorely Tempted

Coast City Doubles Biggest Offer for Convention, and Is Almost Certain To Get IT

DALLAS AND ST. LOUIS STILL BIDDING

NOTED CANADIAN STATESMAN NEARS RETIREMENT AGE

Sir Wilfred Laurier Today Celebrates Seventy-Fifth Birthday Anniversary

Will Retain Liberalist Leadership Until After Convening of Next Parliament.

Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 20.—Sir Wilfred Laurier, former Dominion Premier and present leader of the Liberal party in Canada, entered upon his seventy-fifth year today, having been born at St. Lin, Quebec, November 20, 1841. The anniversary was marked by the receipt of congratulations from friends and admirers throughout Canada and from the United States and England as well.

Sir Wilfred's birthday anniversary has served to bring forth from the Canadian press many predictions of his early retirement from the leadership of the Liberal party and public life. His advanced age, his recent illness and the strong insistence of Lady Laurier that her husband be permitted to spend his remaining years free from the turmoil of politics are advanced as reasons for his decision to retire from active parliamentary leadership.

At the same time it is known that the most influential spirits in the Liberal ranks have been bringing strong pressure to bear upon the veteran statesman to continue at the head of Liberalism until after the next parliamentary election. They are confident that his prestige will lead the party back to office, but those in a position to know assert that nothing will be permitted to stand in the way of Sir Wilfred's desire to retire.

Sir Wilfred's withdrawal from politics will remove a picturesque figure from Canadian public life. For nearly half a century he has been constantly before the public, and in recent years has stood almost alone in his hold upon the imagination of the Canadian people.

In 1871 he was a member of the Quebec legislature. Three years later he entered Federal politics, and as early as 1877 he was one of the most influential members of the Mackenzie cabinet. In 1887 he was chosen to lead the Liberal party and has done so unbrokenly and with brilliancy ever since.

In 1898 his party came into power and remained in office until defeated on the issue of reciprocity with the United States in 1911. Despite the overwhelming defeat sustained at the polls Sir Wilfred retained an almost intense popularity with the people.

His retirement will leave the Liberals without a strong leader. Among Sir Wilfred's ablest lieutenants there is not a figure measuring up to the standard set by him during the past twenty years.

Some of these have marked ability. Some are widely respected. Nearly all are politically capable. None can be called a national figure. The name mostly mentioned to succeed to the party leadership is Newton Wesley Rowell, leader of the Liberals' opposition in the Ontario legislature. He is an able lawyer, sincere, highly respected, but without much political experience.

It is said that Sir Wilfred will remain at the head of the party until the beginning of the coming parliamentary session, when an agreement will be effected whereby the life of the present parliament will be extended until after the war. He will then give up the reins of leadership and retire to his old home at Arthursville, Quebec, to spend the remainder of his days among his friends, writing his political reminiscences.

Harry Gallaher of Haverhill, Oregon, arrived in Clearfield to spend the holidays with his family. Mr. and Mrs. George C. ...

WASHINGTON, NOV. 20. (By United Press).—The biggest offer ever made for the Democratic National convention is the bid made by San Francisco to capture the 1916 Democratic National convention. It has been known today.

This bid is double the largest far made by any city. When the Democratic National convention meets here Dec. 7 it will have to do it $100,000 offers from Dallas, Louisiana and probably Chicago. Chicago may have its bid to compete with the California city. Omaha has derided to be in the race. It has dropped out, it was reported.

In addition to the money bid, various cities will offer to display pennons and furnish an entertainment for the delegates. San Francisco and Chicago are also bidding for the Republican convention.

NEW CURWENSVILLE CHURCH TO BE DEDICATED

Many Friends From Neighboring Towns to be Present.

Sunday, November 21, the new St. Timothy's church at Curwensville will be dedicated. Rev. John J. Fitzmaurice, D. D., bishop of the diocese, presiding, assisted by Rev. John McGivney, L. L. D. V. F., pastor of the Clearfield church, and many other priests of the diocese.

Dedicating ceremony will begin at 10 o'clock. Mass 10:40. The ceremony will be delivered by Rev. A. H. Fitzmaurice, D. D., bishop of the diocese, and will be one of the ablest pulpits of the diocese, and has been the principal speaker at some of the most important Catholic functions in the state.

A large attendance from DuBois is expected to witness the ceremony. The new church is a credit to Curwensville, and to the pastor and congregation, who have every reason to be proud of their beautiful edifice.

It is regarded as the most beautiful of its size in the state. The building is of Gothic architecture, with a magnificent pipe organ, the gift of one of the parishioners.

Mass will be sung by St. Catharine's choir with Prof. H. Dickey as the organist.

Father Lynch has always figured prominently at all extraordinary services in the local Catholic church and has a host of friends among the members of all creeds in this city who will be pleased to be present and give testimony of their esteem and affection at the consecration of the new work.

ST. FRANCIS HIGH ENJOYS A LITERARY AFTERNOON

Interesting Program Given by Pupils of Franciscan School

The pupils of St. Francis high school had an interesting literary afternoon yesterday. The program was made up of present day topics, and were treated with skill and enthusiasm by the students.

The essays were exceptionally well given while the musical numbers were skillfully rendered. The following was the program:

- Hymn, by High School.
- Roll Call.
- The Freshmen's Impressions of High school.
- Current Events.
- Texas.
- Piano Duet.
- Autumn.
- The Latest Mexican Situation.
- Vocal Selection.
- Recitation.
- Debate: Resolved, That the United States Should Restrict Immigration.
- Affirmative.
- Negative.
- Piano Trio.
- Newspaper Song.
- High School.

ELK HOSE MEETING

There will be a special meeting of the Elk Hose company on Monday night at which a full attendance is desired.

Subscribe for The Progress.

Subscribe for The Progress.

THE CLEARFIELD PROGRESS

Every day except Sunday by the Progressive Publishing Company, Opera House Building, Clearfield, Pennsylvania

LEONARD E. BROOKS, Managing Editor

OFFICERS

R. SOMMERVILLE, President JAMES H. MINDS, Vice-President
E. W. HESS, Secretary & Treasurer

DIRECTORS

R. SOMMERVILLE JOHN W. BARRATT E. W. HESS
JAMES H. MINDS A. S. MOULTHERP HARRY A. REED

Phone Number 174

Phone Number 47

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION

One Year $3.00 Three Months $1.00
Six Months $1.50 One Month $0.35

Published at the Post Office at Clearfield, Pennsylvania, as second class mail matter.

CIRCULATION STATEMENT

Average Daily Circulation, January 1, 1915, to May 31, 1915, 2465

ANALYSIS

Borough of Clearfield by Carrier and R. F. D. 1264
Within 25 mile (hopping) radius in Clearfield County, 659
Outside 25 mile radius, within County, 202
Free list exchanges, correspondents, in Clearfield County 82
Total in the County, 2207
Total, all classes outside County, 258 2465

THE CLEARFIELD PROGRESS is now a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations, a national institution whose reports govern the sale of millions of dollars of advertising space annually. Upon the completion of the first official audit, a full detailed report will be published.

SATURDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 20, 1915.

Whenever the kaiser begins looking for peace with the same enthusiasm that characterized his forty year search for war, we strongly suspect that he'll find it.

A CHILDISH ASSUMPTION.

Some time ago John Galsworthy, the English novelist and playwright, declared that "no creed can stand up to the feeling subversion of its foundation" as is involved in the terrible world-war still going on. With sanity and common sense that shines by comparison, Mr. Oscar Straus, of New York, now expresses the opinion that "this most barbaric and colossal war has not put God but man on trial." Though the devout mind must shrink from even the suggestion of the Creator of the universe being regarded as "on trial" in any quarter, such a mind will not fail to recognize that Mr. Straus places the blame where it belongs.

The Galsworthy idea, which seems to be more or less prevalent among the unthinking, is based on the childish assumption that an all-wise, all powerful and beneficent Deity would not and could not permit the existence of evil in any form. And yet it must be clear to logical reason that if the spectacle of evil as well as of good were not presented to man, both attracting him in turn, he could not exercise his God-like and God-given freedom to choose the one and turn away from the other. Surely it is this freedom to choose, this ability to act by his own will, that lifts man above the level of the beast. Without it he would be a lifeless, helpless automaton, mere ignominious clay indeed in the hands of the great Power who has appointed for him a higher destiny. If man were not free to do evil, he would not really be free to do good, and to provide such real freedom, and open the way for the upbuilding of character which such freedom alone can assure, is manifestly the purposes of Providence in the permission of evil.

These surface philosophers who have hastened to the end of Christianity in the great European struggle, and in whom the wish is perhaps the father of the thought, need to be reminded that this is not the first war nor even the first great war of the Christian era. It is also worth while to recall to them the fact that other hasty philosophers have long since anticipated their recent utterances. When Europe cowered before Napoleon, for example, it was said that Corsica had conjured Galilee; but before many years the mighty Corsican was a mere memory while Christianity remained no less a vital force, then as now hundreds of thousands who might otherwise have laughed their way to their graves, being turned to serious thought, to soul-searching inquiry and to the hope of a life to come, by the very tread of armies and the red ruin of battlefields.

Gibbon defined history as the record of the crimes and follies of mankind. He could have added that the chief crimes with which the historians' tones are expanded have been wars. Yet the hasty philosophers referred to speak as if war is something so new and startling that neither humanity nor religion can adjust itself to the spectacle. There have been thirty-odd great wars, exclusive of the numerous unimportant ones, during the comparatively short period between the American Revolution and the present struggle in Europe, and the mere mention of the wars since the first century would fill a volume. Yet during those two thousand years Christianity, instead of being extinguished on the battlefield, has not only survived but become vastly extended.

To assume that faith is destroyed and that religious teaching is futile because evil even on a vast scale is permitted, because militarists are afflicted with inordinate ambition in the direction of world-sovereignty or rivalry for the cream of the world's trade make of the most powerful nations inevitable enemies sooner or later bound to appeal to the sword, is as unreasonable as to contend that because there is a destructive storm today there will be no healing sunshine tomorrow.

A BOY IN A THOUSAND.

To "scorn delights and live laborious days," after the manner advocated by Milton in "Lycidas," is scarcely an ambition within reach of the average American boy, but a young inmate of a Southern industrial home seems disposed to "hitch his wagon to a star" no less lofty a star of aspiration. His remarkable essay on "Laziness" that has found its way into print, bears the impression that Master George Jones is armed with a lasting and invincible will. The reader beholds him as he rises with the dawn and chases idleness with an untiring and uncompromising whip until the pillows receive his weary head at night. Clearly

he is not moved by mere enthusiasm but by a wholesome fear, for he assures us that "idleness is the most self-killing of all things," and impressively adds: "Faithfulness means dutiness, and you that have a little sense know that dutiness means a good deal in life."

Every boy who has to be dragged out of bed in the morning and who is constitutionally opposed to study and work should read and ponder the solemn words of Master George. Lazy American boys should listen to his searching questions, uncompromising answers, and blistering comment:

"How come so many people in jail?"

"How come so many people in the chain-gang?"

"How come so many people ragged and filthy and begging for all they get?"

"Because they let idleness degrade and debase them down to where they are not worthy of a name."

"Even down to a hog would not be too lazy to hunt something to eat."

"Some people are naturally too lazy to eat, and before you know it, some will be inventing machines that they will depend on to feed them, and all they will have to have to do is just open their mouths. Laziness! Laziness!"

It will be observed that there is here no weak attempt to make a scapegoat of the hookworm, after the manner of the enthusiastic discoverers of that pestilent creature. The responsibility is wholesomely placed where it rightly belongs—upon the self-indulgent sinner himself—and the fearful results of his wilful course and vividly and convincingly show. The reiterated and convicting "How come" is enough to make every small boy tremble in the thought of the dreadful consequences of unresisted "laziness" and resolve to shirk neither study nor household chores again as long as life lasts.

Today's Geographic Study of The Great European War Zone

"Kraguevatz, before which the Servians have offered such desperate resistance, is the arsenal city of the little kingdom, one of the greatest arsenals in the Balkans," says a statement given out today by the National Geographic Society. "A large powder works is located here, which was increased and improved during the war of the Balkan League with the Ottoman Empire in 1912. There are also maintained here an important arms factory, and the central Servian supply depots for war munitions. In connection with the arms factory, an iron foundry is operated."

"In a sense, therefore, Kraguevatz represented the backbone of Servia's military aspirations, for here are the Servian Krupp works, Du Pont mills and Remington factories amalgamated to form the arsenal city. Highly trained young officers of the Servian army have devoted much painstaking and laborious effort toward bringing the technical efficiency of these factories up to that of the model munitions establishments of the greater Western nations. While not in Kraguevatz proper, the powder mills are situated within a short walk of the town in the little hamlet of Chitcheva. Even in peace times, a strong garrison was maintained in the arsenal city, and investigations of the curious were discouraged."

"Kraguevatz lies among lower hills, about 59 miles southwest of Belgrade, on the Lepentisa River. This stream flows northeast to a junction with the Morava, through a well-wooded valley. One of the finest Byzantine cathedrals in the country is within the city, and here, also, is the finest Servian college building. It is connected by a short branch line with the Belgrade-Nish section of the Paris-Constantinople railroad, and its population has grown rapidly during recent years to a total of more than 15,000. In the early days of Servian emergence from Turkish obscurity, it served as the capital of Prince Milosh, and, later, as a meeting place for the National Assembly."

OUR DAILY BIRTHDAY PARTY

Dowager Queen Margherita, mother of the present King of Italy, born 64 years ago today.

Elie Ellsler, the oldest living actress in the world, born 92 years ago today.

Sir Wilfred Laurier, former Premier of Canada, born at St. Lin, Quebec, 74 years ago today.

Rt. Rev. Patrick J. Hayes, auxiliary bishop of the Catholic diocese of New York, born in New York City, 48 years ago today.

Selma Lagerlof, famous Swedish writer now engaged in war relief work, born 57 years ago today.

Josiah Royce, professor of the history of philosophy at Harvard University, born at Grass Valley, Cal., 60 years ago today.

William Dudley Foukes, president of the National Municipal League and noted civil service reform worker, born in New York City, 87 years ago today.

James M. Curley, the present mayor of Boston and former representative in congress, born in Boston, 41 years ago today.

Prof. John M. Coulter, head of the botany department of the University of Chicago, born at Mingpo, China, 64 years ago today.

George Stovall, manager of the Kansas City Federal league base ball club, born at Leeds, Mo., 35 years ago today.

RICHARD, THE TRAITOR, IS A TRAP DOOR VILLIAN

Cleveland, Nov. 20.—(By United Press.)—"Betraying his brothers" is the business of Old Dick, veteran lead sheep at the Cleveland Provision Company's slaughter house. Every day he leads 600 of his unsuspecting tribe to a bloody death. He slips through a trap door while the rest of his flock run down a narrow chamber where butchers wait with long sharp knives to slit their throats. That has been Dick's job for eight years and as a reward he will be allowed to die a natural death. He chews tobacco and likes cooked food. When rebuked for following his ignominious calling, Richard scornfully comments as follows: "B-a-a-a-h!"

CHICHESTER'S PILLS

For Biliousness, Indigestion, Headache, Constipation, etc. Sold by Druggists Everywhere.

MILDREDINA HAIR REMEDY NEVER FAILS

To restore gray hair to its natural color and beauty. No matter how old and faded your hair looks, as long you have been gray, it will wonder, keep you looking young, promote a luxuriant growth of healthy hair, stop its falling out and positively remove dandruff. Will not soil skin or linen. Will not injure your hair. Is not a dye.

Refuse all substitutes; 50c per bottle free by return mail, to anyone who sends this coupon to The Mildredine Co., Boston, Mass., with their name and address and 10c in silver or stamps to pay postage.

From Beauty Secrets
C. W. No. egg is not the best thing with which to remove dandruff. I never use animal matter on my hair, as it forms a sort of film on both scalp and hair. Your dandruff can be entirely removed and the hair made brilliant, soft and fluffy by the use of this inexpensive home prepared shampoo, which is superior to any I have ever been able to buy. Dissolve a teaspoonful of sageine, in a cup of hot water. This, rubbed into the scalp, creates a rich, smooth lather which thoroughly cleanses both hair and scalp. An occasional shampoo with this mixture, following by thorough rinsing, will rid you of itching and dandruff, beautify your hair and make your head feel especially good.

The Children's Aid society is much in need of a larger Thanksgiving donation than usual to provide for their thriving family of sixteen at the Children's Home and for others under their care. Food and clothing will be most acceptable and money especially appreciated at this time.

Mrs. Frank Read, Sec.
N 17-57 Mrs. Blanche Biddle, Treas.

ESTRAY NOTICE

Strayed—One heifer, about one and half years old; color, red and white; muley with white spot in face; came to herd in the spring; owner can get same by paying for this notice and the keeping.

U. S. DAVIS,
R. F. D. No. 1, West Decatur.

BOXING CHAMPIONSHIP STARTS

Cleveland, O., Nov. 19.—(By United Press.)—Thirty battles are entered in the Ohio boxing championship here today.

MEXICO LOOKING TO CARRANZA FOR AGRIAN REFORMS

Strength And Purpose For Enforcing Reforms Questioned By Diplomats

Brief Peaceful Reign of Madero Pointed as Possibly Significant—Carranza Recently Recognized by United States.

Washington, Nov. 19.—(By United Press.)—Has Carranza the strength and purpose that Madero lacked, to enforce reforms, particularly agrarian, which Madero failed to establish?

This is the question asked in world diplomatic circles today. Mexican affairs observers point to the brief peaceful reign of Madero as possibly significant.

In his election in 1910 Madero sought reform laws including the division of land among the peons. He failed. Discontent followed. Criticism became active opposition. Neopopulism is said to have weakened Madero's power. Graft again held sway.

Amidst the clamor against Madero, Gen. Victoriano Huerta, Madero's minister of war, is alleged to have conceived his overthrow. Felix Diaz, nephew of the former dictator, and Gen. Reyes were called Huerta's conspirators.

The storm against Madero broke February 9, 1913. The Mexico City garrison, controlled by Huerta, revolted. The capital was the battle ground. Cannon raked the streets. Rioting and pillage, arson and murder, reigned.

The arrest of Madero followed February 18. Under threats of assassination he resigned next day. Under the Mexican constitution, Porfirio Lacerain, Madero's minister of foreign affairs, became president for an hour. In that hour Lacerain appointed Huerta foreign minister, then resigned. Huerta, by succession, became president.

Forty-eight hours later Madero and Suarez were dead. On the night of February 23 they were taken from a carriage while enroute from one prison to another and shot down by soldiers. Lieut. Francisco Cardenas is said to have been the commander of the firing squad. He later fled and is today reported exiled in Guatemala.

Upon Madero's death, Huerta urged all state governors to remain loyal. He also demanded U. S. recognition from President Taft. Before the latter had need to decide, his term ended.

To avenge Madero's assassination and restore constitutional government, the present Constitutional revolution was organized, culminating in the recent recognition of the Carranza government.

Gen. Venustiano Carranza was governor of Coahuila, a big rancher. Pancho Villa was a bandit in the Sonora mountains.

On March 26 Carranza was named "First Chief" of the Constitutional revolt, at a conference of revolutionists at Guadalupe, Coahuila. The famous "Plan of Guadalupe" was there born, pledging the Constitutionalists to avenge Madero's death and place a constitutional successor in the President's chair. Land and other reforms were pledged.

Numerous and wealthy relatives of Madero supported Carranza's revolt. Northern Mexico united to recruit Carranza's army. From Sonora Pancho Villa stepped out upon the stage of Mexican politics. He and his outlaws enlisted under Carranza.

Villa was appointed a general of the Division of the North. Gen. Alvaro Obregon was head of the northwestern corps. In a spectacular campaign, Villa headed captures of Juarez, Chihuahua and finally Torreón, one of the bloodiest battles. Afterward Zacatecas fell. During 1913-14 the Constitutionalists fought almost to Aguas Calientes.

Meantime President Wilson had refused Huerta recognition. In several messages to congress, the first only eight days after his inauguration, the President declared "Huerta must go." Huerta's downfall was forecasted by the President's proclamation raising the embargo on arms in favor of the revolutionists. Huerta had been recognized by England, Spain, France, Austria, Japan and other countries.

On October 10, 1913, Huerta suspended the Mexican congress, arrested 111, or half of the members. There were reports that many were assassinated. With the Carranzistas pressing upon Mexico City, the "Tampico Incident" occurred April 9, 1914, when American bluejackets were arrested in violation of orders. Demands by Admiral Dewey for a salute to the flag in the harbor, was swiftly followed by the extraordinary landing April 21 at Vera Cruz, with fighting in which 21 Americans were killed. The army commanded by Gen. Funston took possession.

President Wilson that called the A. B. C. Mexican peace conference at Niagara Falls April 25. Huerta sent delegates. Carranza refused official participation or an armistice. No tangible results toward pacification

QUIT MEAT WHEN KIDNEYS BOTHER

Take a glass of Salts if your Back Hurts or Bladder troubles you.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so that waste, or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headache, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders comes from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel dull aching in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage, or attended by a sensation of swelling, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and dissolve a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the purest grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in uric acid, so no longer causes irritation, thus avoiding bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and does not injure; makes a delicious effervescent lithia-water drink which is regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

Advertise in The Progress.

Don't Let Cobwebs Grow.

By BREEN.

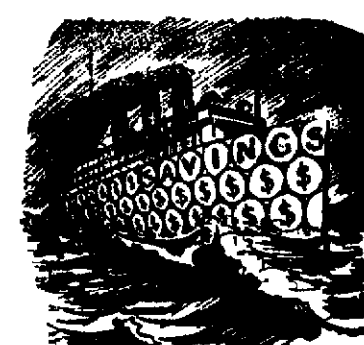

Brush up your business. Don't let it get cobwebby. Keep abreast of the times. Be progressive. Advertise.

Big business advertisements. When, as babies, the country's greatest enterprises began to crawl they advertised. Now that they are giants have they quit advertising? Not much. Why should it be necessary to ask a struggling business man to advertise. He knows that he needs advertising. Advertising is the life-blood of all business enterprises, large and small.

If you have a small business, advertise.

If you have a big business, advertise.

THE MAMMOTH SHIP

of today did not come suddenly, but by degrees. Mammoth fortunes were started with small savings. Skyscrapers are built a little bit at a time.

Take the lesson to yourself and begin saving now and get the habit of doing it regularly. We shall be glad to have you start here.

CLEARFIELD TRUST COMPANY

"CLEARFIELD'S PIONEER SAVINGS BANK"

SAVE SYSTEMATICALLY

There is no time like the present to start saving. Form a plan and work it systematically and persistently. Decide how much you can save out of each pay. Then deposit that amount regularly every pay day. It will surprise you to see how the money grows.

This bank invites your savings account. You will receive 3 per cent interest, compounded every six months.

THE COUNTY NATIONAL BANK Of Clearfield.

THE OLDEST BANK IN CLEARFIELD CO.

Bank With Us

This is a simple little invitation in itself, but it means to the Firm, Merchant or Corporation who accepts, Substantial Assistance in business, Security for funds on deposit and all the Conveniences and courtesies a well organized banking system can extend.

The Clearfield National Bank,

"The Bank of Service"

Resources $1,558,376.53

CLASSIFIED

WANTED
WANTED—Experienced girl for general housework. Wages $8 per week and no washing. Reference required. Inquire at Progress office. N 18-2.

WANTED—Roomers. Gentlemen preferred. 407 Market St. N 17-14

WANTED—Dining room and kitchen girl at the Wither Inn. N 18-31.

FOR SALE
FOR SALE—Residence in most desirable location on South Second St. White "House" in care of Progress. N 18-7.

LOST—Black for neck piece on South Second street last Wednesday. Please return to the Progress office. N 19-31.

FOUND—A pair of gold-rimmed spectacles in Hillsdale cemetery. The owner can have same by applying at the Progress office.

Try a Woman's club lunch tomorrow. The satisfaction you get out of helping their work along will be worth the fifteen cents you'll have to pay for an excellent meal.

POPE ASKS AID FOR POLAND.

Rome, Nov. 20.—Many telegrams and addresses of greeting from throughout the world have reached the Vatican in anticipation of the fifty-first birthday anniversary of Pope Benedict, who was born November 21, 1854. The Pope expressed desire that there be no festivities on his birthday. Instead, he has requested the bishops and clergy throughout the world to observe the day with prayer and offerings for the souls of the Polish war sufferers.

DO YOU NEED THIS GREAT NERVE TONIC

For Over-Eating, Drinking, Smoking or Overwork of any kind Cause Nervousness.

Take Tonaline Tablets. Druggists everywhere are having big sale these days because the people who have tried them know that they tone up the entire system impart vigor and energy to run-down people in a few days, because they are guaranteed to be exactly as advertised, and all druggists are authorized by the maker to refund the purchase price if anyone is not satisfied with the first box purchased.

If you feel blue, have lost confidence in yourself, are despondent, weak and tired out, a box of Tonaline Tablets is all you need.

Finest preparation for headaches, nervous troubles, poor blood, kidney and liver complaints, malaria, neuritis trembling and loss of appetite. They never fail to end constipation.

Tonaline Tabs are a powerful tonic to nutrition, increases cell growth, food increases the number of blood-corpuscles and as a necessary result builds up muscles, and solid healthy flesh, and rounds out the figure.

Tonaline Tablets cost $1.00 for a 10-days' treatment. Mail orders filled, charges prepaid by The American Promotional Co. Boston, Mass.

RUB RHEUMATISM PAIN FROM SORE ACHING JOINTS

Rub Pain Away With Small Trial Bottle of Old, Penetrating "St. Jacob's Oil"

What's rheumatism? Pain only. Stop drugging! Not one case in fifty requires internal treatment. Rub soothing, penetrating "St. Jacob's Oil" directly upon the "tender spot" and relief comes instantly. "St. Jacob's Oil" is a harmless rheumatism and sciatic liniment which never disappoints and can not burn the skin. Limber up! Quit complaining! Get a small trial bottle from your druggist, and in just a moment you'll be free from rheumatic an aching pain, stiffness and swelling. Don't suffer! Relief awaits you. Old, honest "St. Jacob's Oil" has cured millions of rheumatism sufferers in the last half century, and is just as good for sciatica, neuralgia, lumbago, backache, sprains and swellings.

CORNERSTONE OF MCKINLEY MEMORIAL

Niles, O., Nov. 20.—With the laying of the cornerstone for the McKinley memorial building today the project for a suitable memorial to the late President in the town of his birth was advanced an important step in the direction of becoming an accomplished fact. In this memorial the town of Niles is to have a building which will be the only one of its kind in the country, for the conditions which the trustees of the National McKinley Birthplace Memorial Association laid down for the competing architects have resulted in a unique design—the memorial was to have "a monumental character and contain an auditorium, library, and statue of the late President."

In another year, if present plans are fulfilled, the public square of Niles will be converted into a park carefully landscaped. In the center of the park enclosure will be a long, low building of white marble. Seen from the approach on Main Street, the building will be dominated by its central feature, a colonnade leading into a court of honor. In the middle of the court there is to be a sunken pool, such as was to be seen in the old Roman palaces. Surrounding the court there will be a peristyle of Greek doric columns, especially made for the reception of the statue of President McKinley. The statue is to be of heroic size, and will be executed in bronze.

HETTY GREEN 80 YEARS OLD.

New York, Nov. 20.—Mrs. Hetty Green, the "richest woman in the world," will be eighty years old tomorrow. So far as can be ascertained Mrs. Green has made no arrangements for a celebration of the day. Neither is it known whether she intends to spend the day at her home in Hoboken or at her home in Manhattan. For reasons perhaps best known to herself—and the tax collector—the "richest woman" prefers to have two domiciles. A part of the time she occupies a $5 a week furnished room at 1211 Washington Street, Hoboken. At other times No. 5 West Ninetieth Street, Manhattan, is known as the abode of Mrs. Green. Sometimes she is to be found living at one address and sometimes at the other. And sometimes, when reporters call, she is to be found at neither address. Her name does not appear on the tax list of New York because she is classed as a non-resident. Her name doesn't appear on the tax list of Hoboken for the same reason. Consequently it is a difficult matter to state the exact residence of the 80-year-old woman who is supposed to have $100,000,000 or so laid away for a rainy day.

SIR BRYAN MAHON.

Major-General of the British Army, now commanding British troops in Serbia. General Mahon was the hero of Mafeking.

BIRTHDAY OF OLDEST LIVING ACTRESS.

New York, Nov. 20.—Over in the town of Mulesy, N. J., a few old-time actors and actresses gathered today to celebrate the birthday anniversary of Effie Ellsler, who lays claim to being the oldest living actress in the world. Mrs. Ellsler, whose daughter of the same name is well known to the present generation of theatregoers, is ninety-two years old. She was bred in the atmosphere of the playhouse and had a speaking part when three years of age. A little later she was hailed as a child prodigy for her performance of Eva in "Uncle Tom's Cabin," long before the civil war. At 16 she had played Juliet and Rosalind to the satisfaction of the critics. She played with Junius Brutus Booth and with Edwin and John Wilkes Booth at the start of their careers. It was in "Hazel Kirke," however, she achieved the most notable success of her entire career. In this piece she appeared continuously for three years, after which she retired from the stage.

WEDDING IN MILITARY CIRCLES

Washington, Nov. 20.—St. Margaret's Church was the scene of a brilliant military wedding today, when Miss Julia Little, daughter of Col. and Mrs. Isaac W. Little, became the bride of Lieut. Alexander M. Patch, U. S. A. The church ceremony was followed by a large reception at the home of the bride's parents.

PRESIDENTIAL MACHINE BADLY NEEDS OVERHAULING

Ancient Typewriter Working Over-time Now on Congressional Message

Washington, Nov. 20.—(By United Press).—When President Wilson writes a message to congress it looks something like this:

In addition to which the machine's alphabet is badly clogged as to legs and shoulders. The space bar suffers from intermittent paralysis. Some of the others are virtually mute. Others have bold, black faces. The ribbon is about as fresh and whole as a battle flag in a museum. The mechanism generally is decrepit, and bumps heavily through the affairs of state only under the severest presidential goading. Mr. Wilson admits it is far from faultless, but he likes it, and he is very proud of the fact that it has no hyphen.

You couldn't get a typewritten line out of the president on any machine but this one—not even with a dark lantern and a jimmie. White House humorists say he has hand-raised the poor old thing so long he has developed a personal attachment for it. If so, that is only valuable attachment it has.

For years and years the ancient machine has endured professional authorial and presidential pecking and pecking is right, for Mr. Wilson is a disciple of the Hunt system, or forefinger hesitation. Wherefore it may be said that this is the only typewriter that ever had the distinction of having been stayed with a president. It might be added that this couple is getting ready to lend congress a merry dance this winter while the orchestra plays "O You Preparation."

The low, rakish form of this ancient, rusty friend of the president's reposes in his library. They understand each other's idiosyncracies and eccentricities and they stand ready together at any time to battle submarines, blockades of neutral ports, or a—oh, any darned thing.

DAILY LESSON IN HISTORY

One Hundred Years Ago Today
Second Peace of Paris signed.
It established the boundaries of France and stipulated for the occupation of certain fortresses by foreign troops for three years.

Seventy-Five Years Ago Today
1840—The decennial census showed New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Virginia, in the order named, to be four largest states in point of population.

Fifty Years Ago Today
1865—The dispute between Prussia and Austria over the Schleswig-Holstein question reached a critical stage.

Twenty-Five Years Ago Today
1890—Mrs. Potter Palmer, of Chicago, was elected president of the board of lady managers of the World's Columbian Exposition.

WAR NEWS OF ONE YEAR AGO TODAY

Seven years ago were fighting in the Balkans. Mr. Warren announced the U. S. S. Tennessee was fired on because she was entering a mined harbor at Smyrna.

SUNDAY SCHOOL

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Lesson VIII.—Fourth Quarter, For Nov. 21, 1915.

Text of the Lesson, Jonah iii, 1-10. Memory Verse, 16—Golden Text, Matt. xlviii, 13, 20—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

Any one who questions the truth of the reality of this story of Jonah casts discredit on the Lord Jesus Christ, for He called Jonah a prophet and said that he three days and nights in the belly of the fish were tokens of His death and resurrection. He also spoke of the repentance of the people of Nineveh under the preaching of Jonah, and of a future judgment (Matt. xii, 39-41; Luke xi, 32). To question the words of the Lord Jesus is to question God the Father, for He said that the Father always told Him what to say (John xii, 47-50). Jesus Christ said, "I am The Truth," and God is called "The God of Truth" (John xiv, 6; Isa. xlv, 19). Therefore let our hearts cry, "Let God be true, but every man a liar." "For we can do nothing against the truth, but for the truth" (Rom. i, 18; II Cor. xiii, 8).

When Jonah is mentioned people always think of the fish, whereas the fish is mentioned but four times in the book, while God or Lord is mentioned forty times. We are not as right with God as we might be until we give the same relative importance to people and things that He does; therefore let us not magnify the fish, but the Lord. This is called a foreign missionary lesson, and it is certainly a good one on that topic, as we shall see. Two of the great foundation truths of the Bible are "God is love" and "The Lord is not willing that any should perish" (I John iv, 8, 16; II Pet. iii, 9). In this lesson we see a great city of at least 600,000 people (120,000 children) and much cattle, and there was great wickedness in the city (Jonah i, 2; iv, 11), but God would rather save than destroy them, and He sent Jonah to call upon them to repent that He might spare them.

That is always God's attitude to the world lying in its wickedness. He commands all men everywhere to repent, for He will have all men to be saved and to come unto the knowledge of the truth (Acts xiii, 47; I Tim. ii, 4). But how can they know unless some one tells? So Jonah is called of God to go and tell Nineveh that, while the Lord does not wish them to perish, unless they repent judgment will come in forty days (i, 1, 2; ii, 4). At first Jonah is unwilling to go and seeks to flee from the call. Then follows the record of the voyage to Tarshish begun seemingly so favorably, but suddenly interrupted, for God sent two detectives to arrest him and bring him back. A great wind to stop him and a great fish to bring him ashore (i, 4, 17). Arrested on the high seas and brought back, it reads like an up to date story, for our God is always up to date and away ahead. Look at the wireless and rapid transit as seen in the story of Daniel and Gabriel (Dan. ix, 3, 20, 21).

As to the present day attitude of those who profess to be the Lord's people toward the command of our Golden Text and of Mark xvi, 15, Luke xlv, 47; John xxi, 21, 23; Acts i, 8, could there be a more vivid picture than that of Jonah on this ship before the captain woke him up? The only man on the ship who knew the true God fast asleep, while the heathen sailors earnestly cried unto their gods. Those who have the Bible and in it the knowledge of the living and true God and of salvation by Jesus Christ for all who will receive Him are as indifferent to the welfare of the millions of so-called heathen who are earnestly calling upon their gods as was Jonah when fast asleep on that ship. They need to hear the cry of that shipmaster, "What meanest thou, O sleeper? Arise, call upon thy God, if so be that God will think upon us that we perish not" (i, 6).

If we had unclouded ears we might hear the heathen say, "Arise and tell us of thy God and of His great salvation." And we would surely hear God saying, "Whom shall I send and who will go for us?" (Isa. vi, 8). If God was seeking in this age to win the world to Himself both He and we might well be discouraged, but He is not discouraged, and He cannot fail (Isa. xlii, 4). This book of Jonah shows us his plan. Jonah was an Israelite. After his resurrection from the dead, in a figure, he went to Nineveh and preached the preaching that the Lord bade him, and a whole city repented (chapter 3). I do not know of another instance on record of a whole city turning to God. Now see the foreshadowing of His plan. Israel has long been rebellious, but when they shall see the Lord Jesus, the risen Christ, their glorious and glorified Messiah, coming in His glory, as Saul saw Him on the way to Damascus, they will receive Him and with the zeal of Paul will speedily make Him known to all the world, and whole nations will turn to Him and be saved (Isa. xlv, 6; xlviii, 6; xxv, 10; iii, 9, 10; ix, 1-3; Rom. xi, 12, 15). Notice in this book how God used a wild, a fish, a worm and even such a strange man as Jonah and, being first of all sure that you are redeemed by the precious blood of Jesus Christ, say to Him with all your heart, "Here am I; use me." Oh, use me, Lord, use even me, just as thou wilt, and when and where, until Thy blessed face I see; Thy rest, Thy joy, Thy glory share.

Any Intelligent Person may earn a steady income corresponding for newspapers Experience unnecessary. Address Press Correspondence Bureau, Washington D. C. N 20-22.

BAZAAR AND FOOD SALE
The Ladies of St. Andrew's church will hold a Bazaar and Food Sale on Friday December 3, beginning at 3 o'clock in Miss Bahr's store.

THE INSTRUMENT OF QUALITY Sonor CLEAR AS A BELL

THE agency for the Sonora Phonograph has been a matter of both pride and pleasure with us, and the Exquisite Tone Quality of this instrument are appreciated by all who have purchased from us.

Definite official recognition has been given by the Panama-Pacific Exposition to the superiority of the Sonora in Tone Quality, the Sonora being awarded not only the highest score for this feature, but were the only phonographs to be given special recognition for it.

A Few Sonora Features:
Tone and Tone Modifier.
Long-running, silent motor.
Marvelous construction of Sound Box.
Beautiful flowing lines of Cabinet.
Wonderful qualities of the Sonora Multi-Playing Jewel Needle.
These features and many others combine to produce an unrivalled instrument.

We have an excellent stock of Sonora Phonographs to choose from, ranging in price from $35.00 to $395.00. Call and we will gladly demonstrate the superiority of Sonora Phonographs and when you only purchase you will buy the best. Come in and hear them.

Dooley & Stewart's Drug Store and H. Clark Thayer & Son

The Progress Press

Is Equipped to Serve Your Commercial Printing Needs Promptly. Book, Catalog, Law and Pamphlet work can be done economically and with dispatch.

May we not estimate on your next order? Especial attention is called to the facilities of The Progress Press for printing law briefs.

The Progress Press is the only printing establishment in Clearfield equipped to turn out machine composition, which insures speed, uniformity, and finished quality. Call either phone. A Representative will call and give you estimates and any other information desired.

The Progress Press Clearfield, Penna.

Smaller

Smaller coal bills and better cooking results—that's what a Moore's Range will do for you. It's a big work-saver and time saver—and it makes cooking a real pleasure.

Moore's Range

"Since 1857" With the Glass Oven Door

Needs one-third less coal than any other range. The Everlasting Fire-back digs and turns it all into heat—no waste. The Glass Oven Door you can watch your food cooking. Oven Thermometer and Anti-Thermometer Guide make failures almost impossible. No soot and no smoke. Easy to burn. And toast—raised front key-plate can be raised and soft coal, hard coal and wood. Moore's Range saves work, saves money. Efficient, economical—a beauty in your kitchen pride. Don't fail to see it.

FOR SALE BY
ROUTCH & SWARTZEL,
Second Street, Clearfield, Pa.

Advertise in The Progress.

Sip for Tonight's Tea Table

Bowler has returned from

Margaret Haines spent the

L. Cole was in Brookville on

J. M. Dodson, of Curwensville,

at the day here.

Allison O. Smith returned last

and Mrs. H. I. Hoag left this

Mrs. J. R. Chase left yesterday to

Mrs. Stein, of Tyrone, is visiting

M. E. Pyle of DuBois, transacted

business in town yesterday.

Kenneth Seaver, of Pittsburg, had

business in town yesterday.

Q. E. Beaudry, of LeConte,

was in town yesterday.

Miss Ella Shearer of LeConte

is visiting friends in town.

Mrs. Oaker, of Patton, is visiting

Mrs. I. M. McKee on Fifth street.

Mrs. Will Thompson, of Curwens-

ville, was in town this morning.

W. J. Wetherill, of J. H. Hintersgar had business in town yesterday.

Miss Letitia Woodside, of Cur-wensville, spent today with friends in town.

Walt Shillingford left yesterday

for Chicago to visit his sister Mrs.

Shillingford, of Camden, N. J., November

10, en route.

A. L. New and Melvin Neff attended the high school football game

at Indiana today.

Miss Alma Krause and Mrs. Jones

of Osgoda Mills were shopping in town this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. George Copelin, of

Madara, are visiting Mrs. Emeline

Straw on William street.

Charles Hyatt, of New York, has accepted the position as manager of

Kurt's Stationery store.

Mrs. L. M. Hubler who underwent

an operation at the hospital on Wednesday is improving rapidly.

Arthur McQuillen is home from

Jefferson Academy to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. M. McQuillen.

Miss Pearl Woolridge returned to her home in Woodland last evening

after a visit with Miss Edna Johnson.

Miss Margaret Haines entertained

a number of her friends last evening

at her home on South Second street.

Mrs. James Hoffer of Eugene, Oregon who has been visiting friends in town left this morning for Winburne.

Dent Heiden and Prof. Reading

left this morning for Indiana to attend the Kirk-Indiana football

game.

Harry Claster and son Leslie, of

Lock Haven returned to their home

after a visit at the home of Louis

Shapiro.

Miss Mary Townsend left for her home in Williamsport after a visit

Sunday with the Churches

First Baptist Church

Rev. Norman J. Mecklen, Pastor.

9:45 Sunday school.

11:00 Morning worship.

Theme, "The Elimination of the Faithless."

6:30 Baptist Young People's

Union.

7:30 Evening service.

Theme, "A Modern Prodigal."

A real story of modern life.

You are cordially invited to attend

these services.

English Lutheran

Rev. C. R. Allenbach, Pastor.

9:15 Sunday school.

10:30 Worship.

Theme, "The Scripture Teaching

of a Future State."

6:30 Christian Endeavor Society.

7:30 Evening worship.

Theme, "A Free for All."

4:00 Wednesday, Catechetical

class.

A cordial invitation is extended to all to come and worship with us.

Eleventh Street M. E.

Rev. Robert C. Peters, Pastor.

9:45 Love Feast.

10:00 Morning worship

Theme, "The Light of the World."

2:00 Sunday school.

6:45 Epworth League.

7:30 Evangelistic service.

7:30 Wednesday, Prayer meeting.

Everybody cordially invited.

West Side M. E.

Rev. J. W. Long, pastor.

9:30 Sunday school.

10:45 Morning worship.

Theme, "God's Love Letter to the World."

2:30 Junior League.

6:45 Epworth League.

7:30 Evening worship.

Sermon by Rev. E. V. Brown.

7:30 Tuesday evening, class service.

At Mt. Joy Decision Day will be held in the Sunday School at 2:00 p.

m. followed by preaching at 3:00. At

7:30 in the evening revival services

will be held and will be continued

every night during the week. Come!

Trinity M. E.

Dr. H. R. Bender, Pastor.

9:30 Sunday school.

10:45 Morning worship.

Theme, "Christ's Message to the Church Universal."

6:30 Brotherhood meeting.

7:30 Evening worship.

Theme, "The Christian's Equipment."

United Brethren

Rev. E. J. Hummel, Pastor.

9:45 Sunday school.

11:00 Morning worship.

6:30 Y. P. S. C. U.

7:30 Preaching service.

Evangelistic services will be continued for one week.

7:30 Wednesday, prayer service.

Episcopal

Rev. Joseph Johns, Pastor.

9:30 First service.

10:45 Second service.

7:30 Evening Prayer.

St. Francis Catholic

Rev. Father Ryan.

8:00 First mass.

10:00 High mass.

2:00 Sunday School.

7:30 Vespers and Benediction of

Most Blessed Sacrament.

Allen A. M. E. Church

Rev. J. W. Brown, Pastor.

11:00 Morning service.

12:00 Class meeting.

3:00 Sunday school.

6:45 A. C. E. League.

8:00 Evening worship.

8:00 Wednesday, prayer meeting.

All are cordially invited.

The Salvation Army

10:30 Holiness meeting.

2:30 Sunday school.

6:30 Young People's Legion.

7:30 Open air meeting.

8:30 Salvation meeting.

spent some time in the city yesterday.

Bruce Porter of Clearfield, transacted business in town Thursday afternoon.

C. T. Schultz, of Williamsport,

made a business trip to the place on Thursday.

Fred Kirk, salesman for Halsey &

Co., of Philadelphia is spending a few days at home.

Freeman Woods came home from

Monument last evening to spend a few days at home.

Clarence Ammerman of the P. R.

R. force, was a county seat visitor

yesterday morning.

John Haley, Jr. one of the most prosperous farmers visited friends in Curwensville Thursday afternoon.

Scott Ammerman underwent an operation for adenoids yesterday at the Clearfield hospital and is getting along nicely at the present writing.

C. W. Caldwell, of Lumber City,

spent some time in the city yester-

day.

BRITISH WORKMEN PROTESTS THAT HE IS NOT DISLOYAL

Explains Views on Conscription, and Declares He Is Loyal and Patriotic

United Press Staff Correspondent Examines Into British Labor Conditions.

(NOTE)—What's the matter with the British workman? Why does
he go on strike while the life of the British Empire is at stake? Here are his answers, in a series of three articles.)

LABOR ARTICLE NO. 1—THE TRUCE.

BY ED L. KEEN

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

London, Oct. 9.—(By Mail).—British labor is determined to vindicate

itself. The great recruiting campaign

recently inaugurated by the labor

leaders was not merely to stave off

threatened conscription but to demonstrate that English workmen are as loyal and patriotic as those of France and Germany.

The two big strikes of the last year

—those of the Clyde shipbuilders and the South Wales miners—and various

small local disputes seem justification

for the opinion that the average British workman is indifferent, possibly traitorous to his country.

He insists that he is neither. In presenting the war-labor situation

from his standpoint, care has been taken to verify the labor statements.

The first of September, 1914, English

organized labor had declared itself

wholeheartedly for the war. Of two

great labor organizations: the Trade

Union Congress and the General Federation of Trade Unions, the former has three million workers and the latter about a million. Most unions af-iliated with the Federation are also members of the Congress, and vice-versa.

The Congress has to do mainly

with movements and pro labor legislation; the Federation with maintenance of individual rights.

The governing bodies, the Parliamentary Committee of the Congress

and the Management Committee of the Federation, elected yearly—had

promised to help the government win

the war. Joint recruiting campaigns

were begun. Trade journals urged workmen to enlist. Insistence was laid upon patriotism.

Upon the outbreak of hostilities,

industrial truce was declared. All strikes proceeding were stopped; an

pending movements were cancelled;

closer unity efforts in the general

labor movement was abandoned. The

28 weeks old building trades dispute

in London suddenly terminated. The four days a week Scottish coal dispute was postponed. The railway-

men's increased wages, eight hour

day and conciliation scheme program,

was pigeon-holed. The plan to amal-

gamate into one great triple alliance

the three powerful unions—miners,

railwaymen and the transport-workers—was dropped.

Organized labor did this without

any guarantee from the government

or the employers that wages and conditions would not thereby be worsen-

ed. Labor trusted to the patriotism

of capital.

The leaders did not completely control the situation, but until the

truce was broken—for reasons given

later—it was pretty fearfully observed. In the first seven months of 1914 there were 826 industrial disputes, involving 423,000 workers; in the last five months there were only 157, involving 23,000. In

Constantine Orders Naval Vessels Now In Italy Homeward

Believed to Foreshadow Defiance of The Allies Threat of Hostile Action Against Salonika

MOVE PREVENTS DETENTION OF NAVY

London, Nov. 20.—The Greek situation is considered critical today. Private advice from German sources from Copenhagen that the Athens government has ordered all Greek vessels from French and Italian ports immediately is generally taken as a hint that King Constantine means to defy the allies. The order is accepted as an attempt to forestall detention of Greek craft by the French and Italians, a step which England has already taken.

That the allies have served an ultimatum on Greece is not yet confirmed. This report also comes from Germany. Lord Kitchener was to see Constantine today unless the queen prevailed on her husband to resign his lordship an acre. She failed in the case of Denis Coghlin, the French representative.

Vienna, Nov. 20. (By United Press)—Gorizia is burning in many places today. The Italians have thrown 2000 shells into the town. Many of the inhabitants have been killed. The property damage is enormous. From a military standpoint, however, the Austrians have accomplished little. The Austrians firmly hold all their original positions and are refusing attack after attack. The increased intensity of the attack has been an incident to the renewed Italian assault all along the Isonzo line. Everywhere the Austrians are holding their own.

Vienna, Nov. 20. (By United Press)—A crushing Austrian defeat of the Montenegrins near Priboi is announced by the war office today. The town is a Serbian village on the edge of Austria and close to the Montenegrin frontier.

HEAVY GALE SWEEP OVER DUBOIS YESTERDAY

Did Some Property Damage—Blew Side of School House at No. 1 Shaft—Other Damage

A sixty-mile gale swept over this section of the state early yesterday morning, doing considerable damage in its path. Windows were shattered, trees blown down in several places and portions of roofs carried away. The storm raged for several hours. Again yesterday afternoon the wind gained considerable velocity, which was accompanied by a heavy rain. No one was injured by the effects of the storm, however.

In outlying sections of DuBois the worst damage reported was from No. 1 shaft, where a side of a school house was blown in yesterday morning during the gale. The building was damaged to such an extent that there was no school session yesterday.

There were many minor damages to property in the borough. A skylight was blown in at the Hotel Logan. Portions of several tin roofs about town were blown off and carried some little distance. Signs were blown down, and at the Driving park the western side of the fence was blown in.

From all of the surrounding country districts come reports of damage to trees, but the property damage was in no instance reported as large.

In Punxsutawney where the wind manifested itself for nearly four hours a double window on South Fifth street, was plucked from its frame by the gale, carried over the porch roof and violently tossed onto the floor of the porch. Fragments of the glass broke another window in the rear of the house.

Fortunately telephone and telegraph communication were not seriously disturbed by the storm.

Several peculiar pranks were played by the wind about the streets, but these did no material damage—DuBois Courier.

BURBANK STILL AT IT

Potatoes Wizard Develops Lined to Twice Normal Size

Santa Rosa, Cal., Nov. 20.—(By United Press).—The manufacture of United oil may be revolutionized by a new production of Luther Burbank's. He has grown a new white flax with seeds twice the ordinary size and more productive.

The regular meeting of the Women's club will be held on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the rooms on Market street. A full attendance is requested. 11-20-21.

CARRANZA BEGINS RECONSTRUCTION OF RUINED MEXICO

Villa Making Last Stand At Agua Prieta—History of His Disaffection

Jealousy, Rivalry and Mistrust Underlying Motives in Long Struggle Between Chieftains.

Washington, Nov. 20.—(By United Press).—The present breach between Carranza and Villa was opened a year ago, by jealousy, rivalry and mistrust. Peace was short lived following Carranza's entry into Mexico City in August, 1914. A month later Villa began his revolt against Carranza, who was supported by Gen. Obregon. Gen. Obregon, military rival of Obregon, sided with Villa.

The Villa-Carranza breach widened when Villa demanded that Carranza proclaim himself provisional president, according to the "Plan of Guadalupe," name a cabinet and call elections. Carranza did not do this. It would have disqualified him for the presidency.

The Aguas Calientes convention was then called to mediate. Carranza claimed the convention was packed by Villa delegates planning his overthrow. The convention, in which Zapata was represented, declared Carranza a rebel, proclaimed the new Constitutional government, elected Eulalio Gutierrez provisional president. The Villista armies captured Mexico City.

This was the strongest point in Villa's efforts. From this moment his power waned. Carranza and Obregon retreated to Vera Cruz. Villa and Zapata controlled three fourths of Mexico.

Defection of Gutierrez started the disintegration of Villa's power. Gutierrez, outraged by Villa's cruelties and barbarities, he said, left Mexico City with several thousand troops under Gen. Lucio Blanco. His counter-revolt collapsed. The Conventionists elected Roque Gonzales Garza president. Gutierrez fled to the mountains. Obregon gradually built up Carranza's army. Mexico City was captured and re-captured a half dozen times.

Villa's forces were gradually pushed northward. His most crushing defeat was at Celaya last spring. There in desperate charges he lost 6,000 men. Superstitious belief in his military infallibility was shattered. He never recovered.

Five years of revolution had prostrated the country. Fields were untilled or devastated. Live stock was confiscated. Famine swept the country. Business collapsed. Villa's army was pushed back to the border.

The President last July made another move to pacify Mexico by calling representatives of six Latin American countries to aid the U. S. Carranza would not participate and, with Villa apparently a broken reed, the conferees recommended recognition of the Carranza government.

The last desperate struggle of Villa at Agua Prieta, opposite Douglas, Ariz., having failed, today Carranza is entering upon the reconstruction of Mexico.

KING COFFEE'S DAY TO REIGN

Santa Francisco, Nov. 20.—King Coffee reigned supreme at the Panama-Pacific exposition today. At the request of President Cabrera, of Guatemala, the day was specially designated as "Coffee Day" on the exposition calendar, with a view to calling public attention to the enormous amount and high quality of the breakfast berry produced each year in the Central American republic. The celebration of the day centered at the Guatemalan pavilion, where a marimba band entertained the visitors with music while delicious Guatemalan coffee steaming hot was dispensed to all comers.

DANCE—Opera house hall, Wednesday evening, "Dutch" Guelich, 11 years.

HOW THE LATEST LANDSLIDE CHOKED THE PANAMA CANAL
This photograph, taken October 26th near Gold Hill, pictures vividly the problem confronting the canal officials. Rock and earth have moved down from the heights on either side and forced the mud at the bottom out of the water. In the foreground is an island which began to form just before the picture was made. It rose and spread until it joined the sides of the canal. The mass in the background, through which a narrow channel had just been blasted, came up first as an island and grew until it blocked the entire canal at this point.

OSCEOLA CANCELS GAME TODAY WITH CLEARFIELD HIGH

Curwensville Game to Be Played, Weather Permitting This Afternoon

Fast Ridgeway Players Will Be Here for Game Thanksgiving Day. Team in for Strenuous Practice.

One section of the double-header to have been played by the High School today has been cancelled, Osceola High having advised the local boys that they will not be able to play. Weather permitting, the Curwensville game will be played at Curwensville. There is not much doubt as to the result of this game, now that more of the regulars will be available for it on account of the cancellation of the Osceola date.

On Thanksgiving day Clearfield High will meet the strong Ridgeway H. S. team on the local grid. The Ridgeway players have had a successful season, and are reckoned one of the strongest high school teams in this section. The game will be called at the Driving park promptly at three o'clock.

Every opportunity will be taken next week by Coach Redding to put the team in trim for the Ridgeway game, and a series of strenuous practices are scheduled.

LOCAL BOY SELECTED AS FRESHMAN TOASTMASTER

John Fulford Presides at Class Function at Lebanon College

The Freshmen class of Lebanon Valley college honored John Fulford of Clearfield, by selecting him as toastmaster for the class banquet which was held on Monday evening of this week at the Berkshire hotel, Reading. Mr. Fulford has been very active as a class leader ever since entering L. V. C. in September and so was selected to head the list of speakers for the occasion mentioned. He acquitted himself in a creditable manner which, in a measure, reflects honor upon the high school from which he graduated last June.

TWO THANKSGIVING DINNERS TO BE SERVED AT DIMELING

Table Reservations Now Being Made For Elaborate Holiday Spread

By special request of a number of patrons, The Dimeling will repeat last year's Thanksgiving program by serving a elaborate Thanksgiving dinner both at 12 o'clock noon and at 6 o'clock in the evening. This is done to accommodate those who desire to have Thanksgiving dinner at midday. Table reservations are now being received for both services.

On Thanksgiving evening the Felix club will give its annual dance, which will be largely attended by local and out of town people. A number of dinner parties will precede the dance.

ON VISIT TO CALIFORNIA

Mr. and Mrs. Fred K. Boyer and sons Frederick and Thomas, have gone for an extended visit to California. They expect to visit the fair, also Western friends before returning. Mr. and Mrs. Boyer were formerly of Woodland but have lived in Anaconda, Montana for the last six years.

ENTERTAINMENT AT Y. M. C. A. TUESDAY TO BE RARE TREAT

Seymour—Highly Spoken of By Musical Leaders—Soloist in Philadelphia Choir

Chalk Sketches by Secretary Lewis to Form Interesting Part of the Program.

A unique and artistic entertainment "A Medley of Chalk and Music," will be given at Y. M. C. A. next Tuesday evening, November 23, at eight o'clock, at which the feature of the evening will be the presentation of Arthur Lockhart Seymour, one of the leading baritone singers of Philadelphia. Mr. Seymour is a rising young artist with a brilliant future, being only 24 years of age.

At the age of 19 he was the soloist in the Bethlehem Presbyterian Church, one of the largest in Broad Street. He comes to Clearfield most highly recommended by the leading musicians of that city. He possesses a wonderful breath and beauty of tone and also a wide range. He is of an artistic temperament, with a fine personality and appearance and the quality of his tone is pure. He is a pupil of the famous British teacher, F. Edmund Edmunds.

Never before has Clearfield had the opportunity to attend a concert given by such a noted singer and it will probably be many years before one of his class will come to this town again. He was booked for this entertainment only through the personal efforts of Secretary Lewis, who has heard this man sing on several occasions and being from Philadelphia was able to secure him.

The chalk part of the entertainment will be given by Secretary Lewis of the local Y. M. C. A. Mr. Lewis is a skilled artist in this sort of entertainment and the people will see something that they have never before had the opportunity to see.

Mr. Seymour will be accompanied by Miss Martha Hames on the piano, whose talent and ability is well known to the people of Clearfield.

The proceeds of the entertainment will go for the improvements which have recently been made on the building. All who enjoy good music should avail themselves of this unusual opportunity to hear this talented artist. The following ladies will act as patronesses: Mrs. Allison O. Smith, Mrs. Frederick B. Kerr, Mrs. Chas. T. Kurtz, Mrs. Singleton Bell, Mrs. F. B. Read, Mrs. John Martin, Miss Lois Denning, Miss Ella Shaw, Mrs. E. E. Jimeson, Mrs. W. L. Betts. Tickets are on sale at the Y. M. C. A. and also at the Woman's club.

DEBATING SOCIETY TAKES PLACE OF LITERARY CLUB

Clearfield High Elects Officers For New Organization

The C. H. S. Debating club which has succeeded the school's Literary society, elected its first officers yesterday. The officers are: Alvin Brothers, president, Malcolm Cox, vice-president and Pauline Neff, secretary.

On account of the congested condition of the school literary meetings were inconvenient to hold and a debating club was organized. Only interested pupils are required to take part.

UTAH GOVERNOR IS HOSTILE AGAINST I. W. W. AGITATION

Execution of Hillstrom Cause of Wild Speeches By His Fellow Agitators.

Governor Threatens to Clear State of Them if Incendiary Speeches do Not Cease.

Salt Lake City, Nov. 20. (By United Press).—The Hillstrom case was officially a closed incident here today. Governor Spry's threat to drive the Industrial Workers of the World out of Utah and investigation of William Busky, missing in Seattle after a vain attempt to save Hillstrom through an alibi, attracted only mild attention. The general public believed Joseph Hillstrom guilty of the Morrison murder. Hillstrom's body was to be shipped to W. B. Haywood at Chicago following simple funeral services here tomorrow.

"GYP" DAUGHTERY AGAIN IN TOILS OF THEFT CHARGES

Notorious Character Has Served Three Prison Terms for Stealing

"Gyp" Daugherty, a local character with a long prison record, is again in the toils, this time charged with the theft of a bicycle from John Fauntmore, of Clearfield, and in recent years has stood almost alone in his hold upon the imagination of the Clearfield people.

Daugherty was recently pardoned from the Western Pen on account of illness. He has served three terms, each one of them for stealing.

FIREMEN POSTPONE TEST OF TRUCK UNTIL NEXT WEEK

High Winds Prevailing Today Makes Test Tonight Impracticable

On account of the high wind prevailing today, the firemen have decided to postpone the additional test of the new chemical truck until more favorable weather conditions obtain. The demonstration will take place early next week, weather permitting.

DEPENDS ON REPUBLICANS SAYS PROGRESSIVE LEADER

Medill McCormick Says Reunion of Parties Up to G. O. P.

New York, Nov. 20. (By United Press).—Whether the Progressives will unite with the Republicans in 1916 depends entirely upon the Republicans. Medill McCormick, Illinois Progressive leader, declared today before leaving for Washington for a conference with Colonel Roosevelt.

FOR RENT—Furnished rooms on Market street. Inquire at Progress office. N 20 tf.

San Francisco Bid $200,000; Democrats Are Sorely Tempted

Coast City Doubles Biggest Offer Convention, and Is Almost Certain To Get IT

DALLAS AND ST. LOUIS STILL BIDDING

NOTED CANADIAN STATESMAN NEARS RETIREMENT AGE

Sir Wilfred Laurier Today Celebrates Seventy-Fifth Birthday Anniversary

Will Retain Liberalist Leadership Until After Convening of Next Parliament.

Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 20.—Sir Wilfred Laurier, former Dominion Premier and present leader of the Liberal party in Canada, entered upon his seventy-fifth year today, having been born at St. Lin, Quebec, November 20, 1841. The anniversary was marked by the receipt of congratulations from friends and admirers throughout Canada and from the United States and England as well.

Sir Wilfred's birthday anniversary has served to bring forth from the Canadian press many predictions of his early retirement from the leadership of the Liberal party and public life. His advanced age, his recent illness and the strong insistence of Lady Laurier that her husband be permitted to spend his remaining years free from the turmoil of politics are advanced as reasons for his decision to retire from active parliamentary leadership.

At the same time it is known that the most influential spirits in the Liberal ranks have been bringing strong pressure to bear upon the veteran statesman to continue at the head of Liberalism until after the next parliamentary election. They are confident that his prestige will lead the party back to office, but those in a position to know assert that nothing will be permitted to stand in the way of Sir Wilfred's desire to retire.

Sir Wilfred's withdrawal from politics will remove a picturesque figure from Canadian public life. For nearly half a century he has been constantly before the public, and in recent years has stood almost alone in his hold upon the imagination of the Canadian people.

In 1871 he was a member of the Quebec legislature. Three years later he entered Federal politics, and as early as 1877 he was one of the most influential members of the Mackenzie cabinet. In 1887 he was chosen to lead the Liberal party and has done so unbrokenly and with brilliancy ever since.

In 1898 his party came into power and remained in office until defeated on the issue of reciprocity with the United States in 1911. Despite the overwhelming defeat sustained at the polls Sir Wilfred retained an almost intense popularity with the people.

His retirement will leave the Liberals without a strong leader. Among Sir Wilfred's ablest lieutenants there is not a figure measuring up to the standard set by him during the past twenty years.

Some of these have marked ability. Some are widely respected. Nearly all are politically capable. None can be called a national figure. The name mostly mentioned to succeed to the party leadership is Newton Wesley Rowell, leader of the Liberals' opposition in the Ontario legislature. He is an able lawyer, sincere, highly respected, but without much political experience.

It is said that Sir Wilfred will remain at the head of the party until the beginning of the coming parliamentary session, when an agreement will be effected whereby the life of the present parliament will be extended until after the war. He will then give up the reins of leadership and retire to his old home at Arthursville, Quebec, to spend the remainder of his days among his friends, writing his political reminiscences.

Harry Gallaher of Haver Oregon, arrived in Clearfield to spend the holidays with his family. Mr. and Mrs. George C. ...

NOTED CANADIAN STATESMAN NEARS RETIREMENT AGE

Sir Wilfred Laurier Today Celebrates Seventy-Fifth Birthday Anniversary

Washington, Nov. 20. (By United Press).—The biggest offer ever made for the capture of the ...

NEW CURWENSVILLE CHURCH TO BE DEDICATED

Many Friends From Neighboring Towns to be Present.

Sunday, November 21, the new St. Timothy's church at Curwensville will be dedicated. Rev. John J. Fitzmaurice, D. D., bishop of the Diocese of Harrisburg, Pa., will officiate, assisted by Rev. John McGivney, L. L. D. V. F., pastor of the church, and many other priests of the diocese.

Dedicating ceremony will begin at 10 o'clock. Mass 10:40. The ceremony will be delivered by Rev. A. H. Fitzmaurice, D. D., bishop of the Diocese of Harrisburg, Pa., who is considered one of the ablest pulpits of the diocese, and has been the principal speaker at some of the most important Catholic functions in the state.

A large attendance from DuBois is expected to witness the ceremony. The new church is a credit to Curwensville, and to the pastor and congregation, who have every reason to be proud of their beautiful edifice.

It is regarded as the most beautiful of its size in the state. The building is of Gothic architecture, and the interior is of fine proportions. The new church is a credit to Curwensville, and to the pastor and congregation, who have every reason to be proud of their beautiful edifice.

ST. FRANCIS HIGH ENJOYS A LITERARY AFTERNOON

Interesting Program Given by Pupils of Franciscan School

The pupils of St. Francis high school had an interesting literary afternoon yesterday. The program was made up of present day topics, and were treated with skill and enthusiasm by the students.

The essays were exceptionally well given while the musical numbers were skillfully rendered. The following was the program:

- Hymn, by High School.
- Roll Call.
- The Freshmen's Impressions of High school.
- Current Events.
- Texas.
- Piano Duet.
- Autumn.
- The Latest Mexican Situation.
- Vocal Selection.
- Recitation.
- Debate: Resolved, That the United States Should Restrict Immigration.
- Affirmative.
- Negative.
- Piano Trio.
- Newspaper Song.
- High School.

ELK HOSE MEETING
There will be a special meeting of the Elk Hose company on Monday night at which a full attendance is desired.

THE CLEARFIELD PROGRESS

Every day except Sunday by the Progressive Publishing Company, Opera House Building, Clearfield, Pennsylvania

LEONARD E. BROOKS, Managing Editor

OFFICERS

R. SOMMERVILLE, President JAMES H. MINDS, Vice-President
E. W. HESS, Secretary & Treasurer

DIRECTORS

R. SOMMERVILLE JOHN W. BARRATT E. W. HESS
JAMES H. MINDS A. S. MOULTHERP HARRY A. REED

Phone Number 174

Phone Number 47

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION

One Year $3.00 Three Months $1.00
Six Months $1.50 One Month $0.35

Entered at the Post Office at Clearfield, Pennsylvania, as second class mail matter.

CIRCULATION STATEMENT

Average Daily Circulation, January 1, 1915, to May 31, 1915, 2465

ANALYSIS

Borough of Clearfield by Carrier and R. F. D.	1264
Within 25 mile (hopping) radius in Clearfield County,	659
Outside 25 mile radius, within County,	202
Free list exchanges, correspondents, in Clearfield County	82
Total in the County,	2207
Total, all classes outside County,	258
Total	2465

THE CLEARFIELD PROGRESS is now a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations, a national institution whose reports govern the sale of millions of dollars of advertising space annually. Upon the completion of the first official audit, a full detailed report will be published.

SATURDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 20, 1915.

Whenever the kaiser begins looking for peace with the same enthusiasm that characterized his forty year search for war, we strongly suspect that he'll find it.

A CHILDISH ASSUMPTION.

Some time ago John Galsworthy, the English novelist and playwright, declared that "no creed can stand up to the feeling subversion of its foundation" as is involved in the terrible world-war still going on. With sanity and common sense that shines by comparison, Mr. Oscar Straus, of New York, now expresses the opinion that "this most barbaric and colossal war has not put God but man on trial." Though the devout mind must shrink from even the suggestion of the Creator of the universe being regarded as "on trial" in any quarter, such a mind will not fail to recognize that Mr. Straus places the blame where it belongs.

The Galsworthy idea, which seems to be more or less prevalent among the unthinking, is based on the childish assumption that an all-wise, all powerful and beneficent Deity would not and could not permit the existence of evil in any form. And yet it must be clear to logical reason that if the spectacle of evil as well as of good were not presented to man, both attracting him in turn, he could not exercise his God-like and God-given freedom to choose the one and turn away from the other. Surely it is this freedom to choose, this ability to act by his own will, that lifts man above the level of the beast. Without it he would be a lifeless, helpless automaton, mere ignominious clay indeed in the hands of the great Power who has appointed for him a higher destiny. If man were not free to do evil, he would not really be free to do good, and to provide such real freedom, and open the way for the upbuilding of character which such freedom alone can assure, is manifestly the purposes of Providence in the permission of evil.

These surface philosophers who have hastened to the end of Christianity in the great European struggle, and in whom the wish is perhaps the father of the thought, need to be reminded that this is not the first war nor even the first great war of the Christian era. It is also worth while to recall to them the fact that other hasty philosophers have long since anticipated their recent utterances. When Europe cowered before Napoleon, for example, it was said that Corsica had conjured Galilee; but before many years the mighty Corsican was a mere memory while Christianity remained no less a vital force, then as now hundreds of thousands who might otherwise have laughed their way to their graves, being turned to serious thought, to soul-searching inquiry and to the hope of a life to come, by the very tread of armies and the red ruin of battlefields.

Gibbon defined history as the record of the crimes and follies of mankind. He could have added that the chief crimes with which the historians' tones are expanded have been wars. Yet the hasty philosophers referred to speak as if war is something so new and startling that neither humanity nor religion can adjust itself to the spectacle. There have been thirty-odd great wars, exclusive of the numerous unimportant ones, during the comparatively short period between the American Revolution and the present struggle in Europe, and the mere mention of the wars since the first century would fill a volume. Yet during those two thousand years Christianity, instead of being extinguished on the battlefield, has not only survived but become vastly extended.

To assume that faith is destroyed and that religious teaching is futile because evil even on a vast scale is permitted, because militarists are afflicted with inordinate ambition in the direction of world-sovereignty or rivalry for the cream of the world's trade make of the most powerful nations inevitable enemies sooner or later bound to appeal to the sword, is as unreasonable as to contend that because there is a destructive storm today there will be no healing sunshine tomorrow.

A BOY IN A THOUSAND.

To "scorn delights and live laborious days," after the manner advocated by Milton in "Lycidas," is scarcely an ambition within reach of the average American boy, but a young inmate of a Southern industrial home seems disposed to "hitch his wagon to a star" no less lofty a star of aspiration. His remarkable essay on "Laziness" that has found its way into print, bears the impression that Master George Jones is armed with a lasting and invincible weapon of defense. The boy's eye of his fascinated reader beholds him as he rises with the dawn and chases idleness with an untiring and uncompromising whip until the pillows receive his weary head at night. Clearly

he is not moved by mere enthusiasm but by a wholesome fear, for he assures us that "idleness is the most self-killing of all things," and impressively adds: "Faithfulness means dutiness, and you that have a little sense know that dutiness means a good deal in life."

Every boy who has to be dragged out of bed in the morning and who is constitutionally opposed to study and work should read and ponder the solemn words of Master George. Lazy American boys should listen to his searching questions, uncompromising answers, and blistering comment:

"How come so many people in jail?"

"How come so many people in the chain-gang?"

"How come so many people ragged and filthy and begging for all they get?"

"Because they let idleness degrade and debase them down to where they are not worthy of a name."

"Even down to a hog would not be too lazy to hunt something to eat."

"Some people are naturally too lazy to eat, and before you know it, some will be inventing machines that they will depend on to feed them, and all they will have to have to do is just open their mouths. Laziness! Laziness!"

It will be observed that there is here no weak attempt to make a scapegoat of the hookworm, after the manner of the enthusiastic discoverers of that pestilent creature. The responsibility is wholesomely placed where it rightly belongs—upon the self-indulgent sinner himself—and the fearful results of his wilful course and vividly and convincingly show. The reiterated and convicting "How come" is enough to make every small boy tremble in the thought of the dreadful consequences of unresisted "laziness" and resolve to shirk neither study nor household chores again as long as life lasts.

Today's Geographic Study of The Great European War Zone

"Kraguevatz, before which the Servians have offered such desperate resistance, is the arsenal city of the little kingdom, one of the greatest arsenals in the Balkans," says a statement given out today by the National Geographic Society. "A large powder works is located here, which was increased and improved during the war of the Balkan League with the Ottoman Empire in 1912. There are also maintained here an important arms factory, and the central Servian supply depots for war munitions. In connection with the arms factory, an iron foundry is operated."

"In a sense, therefore, Kraguevatz represented the backbone of Servia's military aspirations, for here are the Servian Krupp works, Du Pont mills and Remington factories amalgamated to form the arsenal city. Highly trained young officers of the Servian army have devoted much painstaking and laborious effort toward bringing the technical efficiency of these factories up to that of the model munitions establishments of the greater Western nations. While not in Kraguevatz proper, the powder mills are situated within a short walk of the town in the little hamlet of Chitcheva. Even in peace times, a strong garrison was maintained in the arsenal city, and investigations of the curious were discouraged."

"Kraguevatz lies among lower hills, about 59 miles southwest of Belgrade, on the Lepentisa River. This stream flows northeast to a junction with the Morava, through a well-wooded valley. One of the finest Byzantine cathedrals in the country is within the city, and here, also, is the finest Servian college building. It is connected by a short branch line with the Belgrade-Nish section of the Paris-Constantinople railroad, and its population has grown rapidly during recent years to a total of more than 15,000. In the early days of Servian emergence from Turkish obscurity, it served as the capital of Prince Milosh, and, later, as a meeting place for the National Assembly."

OUR DAILY BIRTHDAY PARTY

Dowager Queen Margherita, mother of the present King of Italy, born 64 years ago today.

Elie Ellsler, the oldest living actress in the world, born 92 years ago today.

Sir Wilfred Laurier, former Premier of Canada, born at St. Lin, Quebec, 74 years ago today.

Rt. Rev. Patrick J. Hayes, auxiliary bishop of the Catholic diocese of New York, born in New York City, 48 years ago today.

Selma Lagerlof, famous Swedish writer now engaged in war relief work, born 57 years ago today.

Josiah Royce, professor of the history of philosophy at Harvard University, born at Grass Valley, Cal., 60 years ago today.

William Dudley Foukes, president of the National Municipal League and noted civil service reform worker, born in New York City, 87 years ago today.

James M. Curley, the present mayor of Boston and former representative in congress, born in Boston, 41 years ago today.

Prof. John M. Coulter, head of the botany department of the University of Chicago, born at Mingpo, China, 64 years ago today.

George Stovall, manager of the Kansas City Federal league base ball club, born at Leeds, Mo., 35 years ago today.

RICHARD, THE TRAITOR, IS A TRAP DOOR VILLIAN

Cleveland, Nov. 20.—(By United Press.)—"Betraying his brothers" is the business of Old Dick, veteran lead sheep at the Cleveland Provision Company's slaughter house. Every day he leads 600 of his unsuspecting tribe to a bloody death. He slips through a trap door while the rest of his flock run down a narrow chamber where butchers wait with long sharp knives to slit their throats. That has been Dick's job for eight years and as a reward he will be allowed to die a natural death. He chews tobacco and likes cooked food. When rebuked for following his ignominious calling, Richard scornfully comments as follows: "B-a-a-a-h!"

CHICHESTER'S PILLS

For Biliousness, Indigestion, Headache, Constipation, etc. Sold by Druggists Everywhere.

MEXICO LOOKING TO CARRANZA FOR AGRIAN REFORMS

Strength And Purpose For Enforcing Reforms Questioned By Diplomats

Brief Peaceful Reign of Madero Pointed as Possibly Significant—Carranza Recently Recognized by United States.

Washington, Nov. 19.—(By United Press.)—Has Carranza the strength and purpose that Madero lacked, to enforce reforms, particularly agrarian, which Madero failed to establish?

This is the question asked in world diplomatic circles today. Mexican affairs observers point to the brief peaceful reign of Madero as possibly significant.

In his election in 1910 Madero sought reform laws including the division of land among the peons. He failed. Discontent followed. Criticism became active opposition. Neopopulism is said to have weakened Madero's power. Graft again held sway.

Amidst the clamor against Madero, Gen. Victoriano Huerta, Madero's minister of war, is alleged to have conceived his overthrow. Felix Diaz, nephew of the former dictator, and Gen. Reyes were called Huerta's conspirators.

The storm against Madero broke February 9, 1913. The Mexico City garrison, controlled by Huerta, revolted. The capital was the battle ground. Cannon raked the streets. Rioting and pillage, arson and murder, reigned.

The arrest of Madero followed February 18. Under threats of assassination he resigned next day. Under the Mexican constitution, Porfirio Lacerain, Madero's minister of foreign affairs, became president for an hour. In that hour Lacerain appointed Huerta foreign minister, then resigned. Huerta, by succession, became president.

Forty-eight hours later Madero and Suarez were dead. On the night of February 23 they were taken from a carriage while enroute from one prison to another and shot down by soldiers. Lieut. Francisco Cardenas is said to have been the commander of the firing squad. He later fled and is today reported exiled in Guatemala.

Upon Madero's death, Huerta urged all state governors to remain loyal. He also demanded U. S. recognition from President Taft. Before the latter had need to decide, his term ended.

To avenge Madero's assassination and restore constitutional government, the present Constitutional revolution was organized, culminating in the recent recognition of the Carranza government.

Gen. Venustiano Carranza was Porfirio's governor of Coahuila, a big rancher. Pancho Villa was his hand in the Sonora mountains.

On March 26 Carranza was named "First Chief" of the Constitutional revolt, at a conference of revolutionists at Guadalupe, Coahuila. The famous "Plan of Guadalupe" was there born, pledging the Constitutionalists to avenge Madero's death and place a constitutional successor in the President's chair. Land and other reforms were pledged.

Numerous and wealthy relatives of Madero supported Carranza's revolt. Northern Mexico united to recruit Carranza's army. From Sonora Pancho Villa stepped out upon the stage of Mexican politics. He and his outlaws enlisted under Carranza.

Villa was appointed a general of the Division of the North. Gen. Alvaro Obregon was head of the northwestern corps. In a spectacular campaign, Villa headed captures of Juarez, Chihuahua and finally Torreón, one of the bloodiest battles. Afterward Zacatecas fell. During 1913-14 the Constitutionalists fought almost to Aguas Calientes.

Meantime President Wilson had refused Huerta recognition. In several messages to congress, the first only eight days after his inauguration, the President declared "Huerta must go." Huerta's downfall was forecasted by the President's proclamation raising the embargo on arms in favor of the revolutionists. Huerta had been recognized by England, Spain, France, Austria, Japan and other countries.

On October 10, 1913, Huerta suspended the Mexican congress, arrested 111, or half of the members. There were reports that many were assassinated. With the Carranzistas pressing upon Mexico City, the "Tampico Incident" occurred April 9, 1914, when American bluejackets were arrested by Huerta's orders. Demands by Admiral Dixon for a salute to the flag in the harbor, was swiftly followed by the extraordinary landing April 21 at Vera Cruz, with fighting in which 21 Americans were killed. The army commanded by Gen. Funston took possession.

President Wilson that called the A. B. C. Mexican peace conference at Niagara Falls April 25. Huerta sent delegates. Carranza refused official participation or an armistice. No tangible results toward pacification today.

BOXING CHAMPIONSHIP STARTS

Cleveland, O., Nov. 19.—(By United Press.)—Thirty battles are entered in the Ohio boxing championship here today.

QUIT MEAT WHEN KIDNEYS BOTHER

Take a glass of Salts if your back hurts or bladder troubles you.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so that waste, or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headache, liver trouble, nervousness, apoplexy, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders comes from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel dull aching in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage, or attended by a sensation of swelling, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and dissolve a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the purest grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in uric acid, so no longer causes irritation, thus avoiding bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delicious effervescent lithia-water drink which is regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

Advertise in The Progress.

Don't Let Cobwebs Grow.

By BREEN.

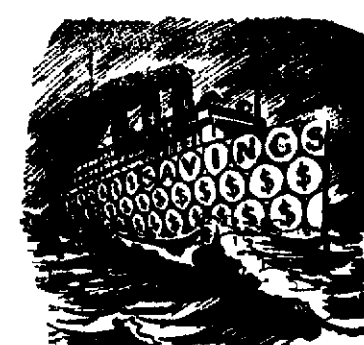

Brush up your business. Don't let it get cobwebby. Keep abreast of the times. Be progressive. Advertise.

Big business advertisements. When, as babies, the country's greatest enterprises began to crawl they advertised. Now that they are giants have they quit advertising? Not much. Why should it be necessary to ask a struggling business man to advertise. He knows that he needs advertising. Advertising is the life-blood of all business enterprises, large and small.

If you have a small business, advertise.

If you have a big business, advertise.

THE MAMMOTH SHIP

of today did not come suddenly, but by degrees. Mammoth fortunes were started with small savings. Skyscrapers are built a little bit at a time.

Take the lesson to yourself and begin saving now and get the habit of doing it regularly. We shall be glad to have you start here.

CLEARFIELD TRUST COMPANY

"CLEARFIELD'S PIONEER SAVINGS BANK"

SAVE SYSTEMATICALLY

There is no time like the present to start saving. Form a plan and work it systematically and persistently. Decide how much you can save out of each pay. Then deposit that amount regularly every pay day. It will surprise you to see how the money grows.

This bank invites your savings account. You will receive 3 per cent interest, compounded every six months.

THE COUNTY NATIONAL BANK Of Clearfield.

THE OLDEST BANK IN CLEARFIELD CO.

Bank With Us

This is a simple little invitation in itself, but it means to the Firm, Merchant or Corporation who accepts, Substantial Assistance in business, Security for funds on deposit and all the Conveniences and courtesies a well organized banking system can extend.

The Clearfield National Bank,

"The Bank of Service"

Resources $1,558,376.53

CLASSIFIED

WANTED
WANTED—Experienced girl for general housework. Wages $8 per week and no washing. Reference required. Inquire at Progress office. N 18-2.

WANTED—Roomers. Gentlemen preferred. 407 Market St. N 17-14

WANTED—Dining room and kitchen girl at the Wither Inn. N 18-31.

FOR SALE
FOR SALE—Residence in most desirable location on South Second St. White "House" in care of Progress. N 18-7.

LOST—Black for neck piece on South Second street last Wednesday. Please return to the Progress office. N 19-31.

FOUND—A pair of gold-rimmed spectacles in Hillsdale cemetery. The owner can have same by applying at the Progress office.

Try a Woman's club lunch tomorrow. The satisfaction you get out of helping their work along will be worth the fifteen cents you'll have to pay for an excellent meal.

POPE ASKS AID FOR POLAND.

Rome, Nov. 20.—Many telegrams and addresses of greeting from throughout the world have reached the Vatican in anticipation of the fifty-first birthday anniversary of Pope Benedict, who was born November 21, 1854. The Pope expressed desire that there be no festivities on his birthday. Instead, he has requested the bishops and clergy throughout the world to observe the day with prayer and offerings for the souls of the Polish war sufferers.

DO YOU NEED THIS GREAT NERVE TONIC

For Over-Eating, Drinking, Smoking or Overwork of any kind Cause Nervousness.

Take Tonaline Tablets. Druggists everywhere are having big sale these days because the people who have tried them know that they tone up the entire system and impart vigor and energy to run-down people in a few days. Because they are guaranteed to be exactly as advertised, and all druggists are authorized by the maker to refund the purchase price if anyone is not satisfied with the first box purchased.

If you feel blue, have lost confidence in yourself, are despondent, weak and tired out, a box of Tonaline Tablets is all you need.

Finest preparation for headaches, nervous troubles, poor blood, kidney and liver complaints, malaria, neuritis, trembling and loss of appetite. They never fail to end constipation. Tonaline Tablets are a powerful tonic to nutrition, increases cell growth, food increases the number of blood-corpuscles and as a necessary result builds up muscles, and solid healthy flesh, and rounds out the figure.

Tonaline Tablets cost $1.00 for a 10-days' treatment. Mail orders filled, charges prepaid by The American Promotional Co. Boston, Mass.

RUB RHEUMATISM PAIN FROM SORE ACHING JOINTS

Rub Pain Away With Small Trial Bottle of Old, Penetrating "St. Jacob's Oil"

What's rheumatism? Pain only. Stop drugging! Not one case in fifty requires internal treatment. Rub soothing, penetrating "St. Jacob's Oil" directly upon the "tender spot" and relief comes instantly. "St. Jacob's Oil" is a harmless rheumatism and sciatic liniment which never disappoints and can not burn the skin. Limber up! Quit complaining! Get a small trial bottle from your druggist, and in just a moment you'll be free from rheumatic an aching pain, stiffness and swelling. Don't suffer! Relief awaits you. Old, honest "St. Jacob's Oil" has cured millions of rheumatism sufferers in the last half century, and is just as good for sciatica, neuralgia, lumbago, backache, sprains and swellings. 8

CORNERSTONE OF MCKINLEY MEMORIAL

Niles, O., Nov. 20.—With the laying of the cornerstone for the McKinley memorial building today the project for a suitable memorial to the late President in the town of his birth was advanced an important step in the direction of becoming an accomplished fact. In this memorial the town of Niles is to have a building which will be the only one of its kind in the country, for the conditions which the trustees of the National McKinley Birthplace Memorial Association laid down for the competing architects have resulted in a unique design—the memorial was to have "a monumental character and contain an auditorium, library, and statue of the late President."

In another year, if present plans are fulfilled, the public square of Niles will be converted into a park carefully landscaped. In the center of the park enclosure will be a long, low building of white marble. Seen from the approach on Main Street, the building will be dominated by its central feature, a colonnade leading into a court of honor. In the middle of the court there is to be a sunken pool, such as was to be seen in the old Roman palaces. Surrounding the court there will be a peristyle of Greek doric columns, especially made for the reception of the statue of President McKinley. The statue is to be of heroic size, and will be executed in bronze.

HETTY GREEN 80 YEARS OLD.

New York, Nov. 20.—Mrs. Hetty Green, the "richest woman in the world," will be eighty years old tomorrow. So far as can be ascertained Mrs. Green has made no arrangements for a celebration of the day. Neither is it known whether she intends to spend the day at her home in Hoboken or at her home in Manhattan. For reasons perhaps best known to herself—and the tax collector—the "richest woman" prefers to have two domiciles. A part of the time she occupies a $5 a week furnished room at 1211 Washington Street, Hoboken. At other times No. 5 West Ninetieth Street, Manhattan, is known as the abode of Mrs. Green. Sometimes she is to be found living at one address and sometimes at the other. And sometimes, when reporters call, she is to be found at neither address. Her name does not appear on the tax list of New York because she is classed as a non-resident. Her name doesn't appear on the tax list of Hoboken for the same reason. Consequently it is a difficult matter to state the exact residence of the 80-year-old woman who is supposed to have $100,000,000 or so laid away for a rainy day.

SIR BRYAN MAHON.

Major-General of the British Army, now commanding British troops in Serbia. General Mahon was the hero of Mafeking.

BIRTHDAY OF OLDEST LIVING ACTRESS.

New York, Nov. 20.—Over in the town of Mulesy, N. J., a few old-time actors and actresses gathered today to celebrate the birthday anniversary of Effie Ellsler, who lays claim to being the oldest living actress in the world. Mrs. Ellsler, whose daughter of the same name is well known to the present generation of theatregoers, is ninety-two years old. She was bred in the atmosphere of the playhouse and had a speaking part when three years of age. A little later she was hailed as a child prodigy for her performance of Eva in "Uncle Tom's Cabin," long before the civil war. At 16 she had played Juliet and Rosalind to the satisfaction of the critics. She played with Junius Brutus Booth and with Edwin and John Wilkes Booth at the start of their careers. It was in "Hazel Kirke," however, she achieved the most notable success of her entire career. In this piece she appeared continuously for three years, after which she retired from the stage.

WEDDING IN MILITARY CIRCLES

Washington, Nov. 20.—St. Margaret's Church was the scene of a brilliant military wedding today, when Miss Julia Littell, daughter of Col. and Mrs. Isaac W. Littell, became the bride of Lieut. Alexander M. Patch, U. S. A. The church ceremony was followed by a large reception at the home of the bride's parents.

SUNDAY SCHOOL

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Lesson VIII.—Fourth Quarter, For Nov. 21, 1915.

Text of the Lesson, Jonah ii, 1-10. Memory Verse, 16—Golden Text, Matt. xlviii, 13, 20—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

Any one who questions the truth of the reality of this story of Jonah casts discredit on the Lord Jesus Christ, for He called Jonah a prophet and said that he three days and nights in the belly of the fish were typical of His own three days and nights between His death and resurrection. He also spoke of the repentance of the people of Nineveh under the preaching of Jonah, and of a future judgment (Matt. xii, 39-41; Luke xi, 32). To question the words of the Lord Jesus is to question God the Father, for He said that the Father always told Him what to say (John xii, 47-50). Jesus Christ said, "I am The Truth," and God is called "The God of Truth" (John xiv, 6; Isa. xlv, 16). Therefore let our hearts cry, "Let God be true, but every man a liar." "For we can do nothing against the truth, but for the truth" (Rom. i, 18; II Cor. xiii, 8).

When Jonah is mentioned people always think of the fish, whereas the fish is mentioned but four times in the book, while God or Lord is mentioned forty times. We are not as right with God as we might be until we give the same relative importance to people and things that He does; therefore let us not magnify the fish, but the Lord. This is called a foreign missionary lesson, and it is certainly a good one on that topic, as we shall see. Two of the great foundation truths of the Bible are "God is love" and "The Lord is not willing that any should perish" (I John iv, 8, 16; II Pet. iii, 9). In this lesson we see a great city of at least 600,000 people (120,000 children) and much cattle, and there was great wickedness in the city (Jonah i, 2; iv, 11), but God would rather save than destroy them, and He sent Jonah to call upon them to repent that He might spare them.

That is always God's attitude to the world lying in its wickedness. He commands all men everywhere to repent, for He will have all men to be saved and to come unto the knowledge of the truth (Acts xiii, 47; I Tim. ii, 4). But how can they know unless some one tells? So Jonah is called of God to go and tell Nineveh that, while the Lord does not wish them to perish, unless they repent judgment will come in forty days (i, 1, 2; ii, 4). At first Jonah is unwilling to go and seeks to flee from the call. Then follows the record of the voyage to Tarshish begun seemingly so favorably, but suddenly interrupted, for God sent two detectives to arrest His man and bring him back. A great wind to stop him and a great fish to bring him ashore (i, 4, 17). Arrested on the high seas and brought back, it reads like an up to date story, for our God is always up to date and away ahead. Look at the wireless and rapid transit as seen in the story of Daniel and Gabriel (Dan. ix, 3, 20, 21).

As to the present day attitude of those who profess to be the Lord's people toward the command of our Golden Text and of Mark xvi, 15, Luke xlviii, 10; John xxi, 23; Acts i, 8, could there be a more vivid picture than that of Jonah on this ship before the captain woke him up? The only man on the ship who knew the true God fast asleep, while the heathen sailors earnestly cried unto their gods. Those who have the Bible and in it the knowledge of the living and true God and of salvation by Jesus Christ for all who will receive Him are as indifferent to the welfare of the millions of so-called heathen who are earnestly calling upon their gods as was Jonah when fast asleep on that ship. They need to hear the cry of that shipmaster, "What meanest thou, O sleeper? Arise, call upon thy God, if so be that God will think upon us that we perish not" (i, 6).

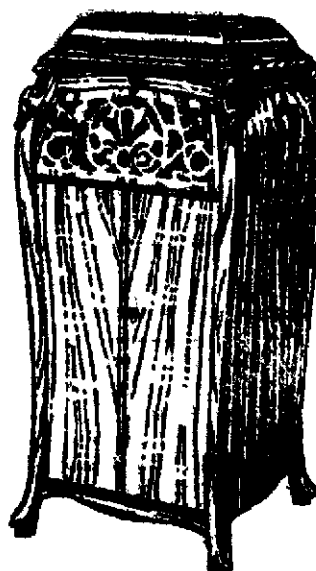

If we had unclouded ears we might hear the heathen say, "Arise and tell us of thy God and of His great salvation." And we would surely hear God saying, "Whom shall I send and who will go for us?" (Isa. vi, 8). If God was seeking in this age to win the world to Himself both He and we might well be discouraged, but He is not discouraged, and He cannot fail (Isa. xlii, 4). This book of Jonah shows us his plan. Jonah was an Israelite. After his resurrection from the dead, in a figure, he went to Nineveh and preached the preaching that the Lord bade him, and a whole city repented (chapter 2). I do not know of another instance on record of a whole city turning to God. Now see the foreshadowing of His plan. Israel has long been rebellious, but when they shall see the Lord Jesus, the risen Christ, their glorious and glorified Messiah, coming in His glory, as Saul saw Him on the way to Damascus, they will receive Him and with the zeal of Paul will speedily make Him known to all the world, and whole nations will turn to Him and be saved (Isa. xlv, 6; xlviii, 6; xxv, 10; iii, 9, 10; lx, 1-3; Rom. xi, 12, 16). Notice in this book how God used a wild, a fish, a worm and even such a strange man as Jonah and, being first of all sure that you are redeemed by the precious blood of Jesus Christ, say to Him with all your heart, "Here am I; use me." Oh, use me, Lord, use even me, just as thou wilt, and when and where, until Thy blessed face I see; Thy rest, Thy joy, Thy glory share.

Any Intelligent Person may earn a steady income corresponding for newspapers Experience unnecessary. Address Press Correspondence Bureau, Washington D. C. N 20-22.

BAZAAR AND FOOD SALE
The Ladies of St. Andrew's church will hold a Bazaar and Food Sale on Friday December 3, beginning at 3 o'clock in Miss Balm's store.

THE INSTRUMENT OF QUALITY Sonor CLEAR AS A BELL

THE agency for the Sonora Phonograph has been a matter of both pride and pleasure with us, and the Exquisite Tone Quality of this instrument are appreciated by all who have purchased from us.

Definite official recognition has been given by the Panama-Pacific Exposition to the superiority of the Sonora in Tone Quality, the Sonora being awarded not only the highest score for this feature, but were the only phonographs to be given special recognition for it.

A Few Sonora Features:
Tone and Tone Modifier.
Long-running, silent motor.
Marvelous construction of Sound Box.
Beautiful flowing lines of Cabinet.
Wonderful qualities of the Sonora Multi-Playing Jewel Needle.
These features and many others combine to produce an unrivalled instrument.

We have an excellent stock of Sonora Phonographs to choose from, ranging in price from $35.00 to $300.00. Call and we will gladly demonstrate the superiority of Sonora Phonographs and when you only purchase you will buy the best. Come in and hear them.

Dooley & Stewart's Drug Store and H. Clark Thayer & Son

The Progress Press

Is Equipped to Serve Your Commercial Printing Needs Promptly. Book, Catalog, Law and Pamphlet work can be done economically and with dispatch.

May we not estimate on your next order? Especial attention is called to the facilities of The Progress Press for printing law briefs.

The Progress Press is the only printing establishment in Clearfield equipped to turn out machine composition, which insures speed, uniformity, and finished quality. Call either phone. A Representative will call and give you estimates and any other information desired.

The Progress Press Clearfield, Penna.

Smaller

Smaller coal bills and better cooking results—that's what a Moore's Range will do for you. It's a big work-saver and time saver—and it makes cooking a real pleasure.

Moore's Range

"Since 1857" With the Glass Oven Door

Needs one-third less coal than any other range. The Everlasting Fire-back digs and turns it all into heat—no waste. The Glass Oven Door you can watch your cooking without opening the door. Oven Thermometer and Anti-Thermometer Guide make failures almost impossible. No soot and no smoke. Easy to burn. The raised front key-plate can be raised or lowered to suit soft coal, hard coal and wood. Moore's Range saves work, saves money, is efficient, economical—a beauty in your kitchen pride. Don't fail to see it.

FOR SALE BY
ROUTCH & SWARTZEL,
Second Street, Clearfield, Pa.

DAILY LESSON IN HISTORY

One Hundred Years Ago Today
Second Peace of Paris signed.
It established the boundaries of France and stipulated for the occupation of certain fortresses by foreign troops for three years.

Seventy-Five Years Ago Today
1840—The decennial census showed New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Virginia, in the order named, to be four largest states in point of population.

Fifty Years Ago Today
1865—The dispute between Prussia and Austria over the Schleswig-Holstein question reached a critical stage.

Twenty-Five Years Ago Today
1890—Mrs. Potter Palmer, of Chicago, was elected president of the board of lady managers of the World's Columbian Exposition.

WAR NEWS OF ONE YEAR AGO TODAY

Seven years ago were fighting in the Balkans. Mr. Warren announced the U. S. S. Tennessee was fired on because she was entering a mined harbor at Smyrna.

Advertise in The Progress.

Sip for Tonight's Tea Table

Bowler has returned from Margaret Haines spent the Ocoola.
L. Cole was in Brookville on yesterday.
J. M. Dodson, of Curwensville,
at the day here.
Allison O. Smith returned last night from DuBois.
Mr. and Mrs. H. I. Hoag left this morning for Pittsburgh.
Mrs. J. R. Chase left yesterday to visit relatives in Hastings.
Mrs. Stein, of Tyrone, is visiting
Mr. and Mrs. Grant Ross.
M. E. Flyler of DuBois, transacted
business in town yesterday.
Kenneth Seaver, of Pittsburg, had
business in town yesterday.
Q. E. Beaudry, of LeConte,
was in town yesterday.
Miss Ella Shearer of LeConte
is visiting friends in town.
Mrs. Oaker, of Patton, is visiting
Mrs. I. M. McKee on Fifth street.
Mrs. Will Thompson, of Curwens-ville, was shopping in town today.
Miss Leah Bloom, of Curwensville, was shopping in town this morning.
W. J. Wetherill, of J. H. Hintersight, had business in town yesterday.
Miss Letitia Woodside, of Cur-wensville, spent today with friends in
town.
Walter Shillingford left yesterday
for Chicago to visit his sister Mrs.
Shillingford.
Mr. and Mrs. Eugene, Mahaffey, of Camden, N. J., November 19, are en route.
A. L. New and Melvin Neff attended the high school football game
at Indiana today.
Miss Alma Krause and Mrs. Jones of Ocoola Mills were shopping in town this morning.
Mr. and Mrs. George Copelin, of Madison, are visiting Mrs. Emiline
Straw on William street.
Charles Hyatt, of New York, has accepted the position as manager of Kurt's Stationery store.
Mrs. L. M. Hubler who underwent
an operation at the hospital on Wednesday is improving rapidly.
Arthur McQuillen is home from Baltimore Academy to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nim McQuillen.
Miss Pearl Woolridge returned to her home in Woodland last evening
after a visit with Miss Edna Johnson.
Miss Margaret Haines entertained
a number of her friends last evening
at her home on South Second street.
Mrs. James Hoffer of Eugene, Oregon who has been visiting friends in
town left this morning for Winburne.
Dent Heiden and Prof. Reading
left this morning for Indiana to attend the Kirk-Indiana football
game.
Harry Claster and son Leslie, of Lock Haven returned to their home
after a visit at the home of Louis
Shapiro.
Miss Mary Townsend left for her home in Williamsport after a visit with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs.
James Sutton.
Miss Irene Ogden gave a miscelanous shower for Mrs. John Mc-Quillen last evening. Mrs. McQuillen received many beautiful and useful and useful gifts.
J. Clark Boyer and bride are expected home from their honeymoon on Sunday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Boyer have been in Washington, Baltimore and other Eastern cities.
Henry Liveright entertained a party of young friends at home last evening on West Front street. Dancing and games were participated in by all and delicious refreshments were served.

CURWENSVILLE

Father Lynch was a DuBois visitor last evening.
Mrs. John Webb was a Clearfield visitor yesterday.
Several cases of mumps are reported in town at present.
Ralph Velle had business at the county seat yesterday.
E. Flegal of the county seat was in town yesterday morning.
Mrs. H. G. Gates was a Clearfield caller yesterday afternoon.
H. M. Irvin is on a business trip to Eastern cities at present.
J. C. Byer, of Indiana, visited Cur-wensville Thursday morning.
J. F. Rugherty, of Clearfield, had business in town yesterday.
C. W. Caldwell, of Lumber City,

Sunday with the Churches

First Baptist Church
Rev. Norman J. Mecklen, Pastor.
9:45 Sunday school.
11:00 Morning worship.
Theme, "The Elimination of the Fainthearted."
6:30 Baptist Young People's
Union.
7:30 Evening service.
Theme, "A Modern Prodigal."
A real story of modern life.
You are cordially invited to attend
these services.

English Lutheran
Rev. C. R. Allenbach, Pastor.
9:15 Sunday school.
10:00 Worship.
Theme, "The Scripture Teaching
of a Future State."
6:30 Christian Endeavor Society.
7:30 Evening worship.
Theme, "A Free for All."
4:00 Wednesday, Catechetical
class.
A cordial invitation is extended to all to come and worship with us.

Eleventh Street M. E.
Rev. Robert C. Peters, Pastor.
9:45 Love Feast.
10:00 Morning worship.
Theme, "The Light of the World."
2:00 Sunday school.
6:45 Epworth League.
7:30 Evangelistic service.
7:30 Wednesday, Prayer meeting.
Everybody cordially invited.

West Side M. E.
Rev. J. W. Long, pastor.
9:30 Sunday school.
10:45 Morning worship.
Theme, "God's Love Letter to the World."
2:30 Junior League.
6:45 Epworth League.
7:30 Evening worship.
Sermon by Rev. E. V. Brown.
7:30 Tuesday evening, class service.
7:45 Wednesday, Prayer and Praise service.
At Mt. Joy Decision Day will be held in the Sunday School at 2:00 p.
m. followed by preaching at 3:00. At 7:30 in the evening revival services
will be held and will be continued
every night during the week. Come!

Trinity M. E.
Dr. H. R. Bender, Pastor.
9:30 Sunday school.
10:45 Morning worship.
Theme, "Christ's Message to the Church Universal."
6:30 Brotherhood meeting.
7:30 Evening worship.
Theme, "The Christian's Equipment."

United Brethren
Rev. E. J. Hummel, Pastor.
9:45 Sunday school.
11:00 Morning worship.
6:30 Y. P. S. C. U.
7:00 Praise service.
Evangelistic services will be continued for one week.
7:30 Wednesday, prayer service.

Episcopal
Rev. Joseph Johns, Pastor.
9:30 First service.
10:45 Second service.
7:30 Evening Prayer.

St. Francis Catholic
Rev. Father Ryan.
8:00 First mass.
10:00 High mass.
2:00 Sunday School.
7:30 Vespers and Benediction of
Most Blessed Sacrament.

Allen A. M. E. Church
Rev. J. W. Brown, Pastor.
11:00 Morning service.
12:00 Class meeting.
3:00 Sunday school.
6:45 A. C. E. League.
8:00 Evening worship.
8:00 Wednesday, prayer meeting.
All are cordially invited.

The Salvation Army
10:30 Holiness meeting.
2:30 Sunday school.
6:30 Young People's Legion.
7:30 Open air meeting.
8:30 Salvation meeting.

spent some time in the city yesterday.
Bruce Porter of Clearfield, transacted business in town Thursday afternoon.
C. T. Schultz, of Williamsport, made a business trip to the place on Thursday.
Fred Kirk, salesman for Halsey &
Co., of Philadelphia is spending a
few days at home.
Freeman Woods came home from Monument last evening to spend a few days at home.
Clarence Ammerman of the P. R.
R. force, was a county seat visitor
yesterday morning.
John Haley, Jr. one of the most prosperous farmers visited friends in Curwensville Thursday afternoon.
Scott Ammerman underwent an operation for adenoids yesterday at
the Clearfield hospital and is getting along nicely at the present writing.

BRITISH WORKMEN PROTESTS THAT HE IS NOT DISLOYAL

Explains Views on Conscription, and Declares He Is Loyal and Patriotic

United Press Staff Correspondent Examines Into British Labor Conditions.

(NOTE)—What's the matter with the British workman? Why does
he go on strike while the life of the British Empire is at stake? Here are his answers, in a series of three articles.)

LABOR ARTICLE NO. 1—THE TRUCE.

BY ED L. KEEN

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
London, Oct. 9.—(By Mail).—British labor is determined to vindicate
itself. The great recruiting campaign
recently inaugurated by the labor leaders was not merely to stave off
threatened conscription but to demonstrate that English workmen are as loyal and patriotic as those of France and Germany.

The two big strikes of the last year
—those of the Clyde shipbuilders and
the South Wales miners—and various
small local disputes seem justification
for the opinion that the average British workman is indifferent, possibly traitorous to his country.

He insists that he is neither. In presenting the war-labor situation
from his standpoint, care has been taken to verify the labor statements.
The first of September, 1914, English
organized labor had declared itself
wholeheartedly for the war. Of two great labor organizations: the Trade Union Congress and the General Federation of Trade Unions, the former has three million workers and the latter about a million. Most unions affiliated with the Federation are also members of the Congress, and vice-versa.

The Congress has to do mainly
with movements and pro labor legislation; the Federation with maintenance of individual rights.

The governing bodies, the Parliamentary Committee of the Congress
and the Management Committee of
the Federation, elected yearly—had promised to help the government win
the war. Joint recruiting campaigns were begun. Trade journals urged workmen to enlist. Insistence was laid upon patriotism.

Upon the outbreak of hostilities,
industrial truce was declared. All strikes proceeding were stopped; an-
pending movements were cancelled;
closer unity efforts in the general
labor movement was abandoned. The 28 weeks old building trades dispute
in London suddenly terminated. The four days a week Scottish coal dispute was postponed. The railway-
men's increased wages, eight hour
day and conciliation scheme program,
was pigeon-holed. The plan to amal-gamate into one great triple alliance
the three powerful unions—miners,

halfwaymen and the transport-workers—was dropped.

Organized labor did this without
any guarantee from the government
or the employers that wages and conditions would not thereby be worsen-
ed. Labor trusted to the patriotism
of capital.

The leaders did not completely control the situation, but until the
truce was broken—for reasons given
later—it was pretty fearfully observed. In the first seven months of 1914 there were 826 industrial disputes, involving 423,000 workers; in the last five months there were only 157, involving 23,000. In July, 1914, 99 new disputes were started; in August, 1915 there were only 15.

By February, 1915, more than 350, 000 of the better-paid, organized workmen had enlisted. More than 10 per cent. of trade unionism had demonstrated its patriotism. Since, the number has increased to 1,250,000, including 260,000 miners. Various causes led to the breaking of the truce. The war produced a temporary dislocation of trade and consequent unemployment. In September,

1914, out of 9,250,000 workers, organized a dunormized, 98,000 men and 189,000 women were out of work, despite heavy recruiting from labor ranks generally, estimated at 616,000.

The cotton trade was hard hit; also the woolen industry—for the government had not realized how much khaki would be needed.

This was a phase, but with it grew dissatisfaction with the government handling of the tremendous war-relief funds contributed by the British public. Local committees refused money to war victims, supplying them with food for itemized groceries—omitting milk. Inquisitorial committees, labor says often put applicants in the position of being suspected imposters.

From August, 1914, the cost of living had steadily risen. By the first of 1915 a dollar had become worth to the workman only 75 cents. (Since then its value has fallen to 65 cents.)
There were practically no increase in wages. Labor got poorer and poorer.
Capital was piling up huge war profits.

(Monday—The Broken Truce.)

A. W. LEONARDSON CO.

MARKET STREET,

A. W. LEONARDSON CO.

November Sale of Extraordinary Seasonable Offerings Beginning Saturday, November 20

We need the room to properly display our vast Christmas Stocks and to accomplish this we have planned this November Sale which offers many remarkable bargains on just the kind of merchandise you need at this time of the year. With such values as these we are sure the necessary room needed will be made quickly.

Below we mention just a few of the Special Values we have to offer. See the large circular for full particulars.

Hundreds of Fashionable Coats and Suits go on Sale Saturday at Extraordinary Low Prices. This is the Time for a New Coat or Suit—and ours is the Store from which to buy it

You will find here garments that are extremely attractive and becoming, finest fabrics, and perfect tailoring.

Beautiful Tailored Suits for Women and Misses' of Broadcloth, Serge and Mellrose, Fur and Braid Trimmed. Very latest styles and shades.

$14.95 for regular $19.50 Values.	$17.95 for regular $25.00 Values.	$19.75 for regular $30.00 Values.
--	--	--

New Winter Coats Specially Priced at $9.95, $12.95, $14.95.

The materials are Broadcloth, Zibeline, Hinds, Lynx and Duvelina.
Fur and Braid Trimmed. If you need a good warm Winter Coat this is your opportunity.

FUR SALE

The most luxurious of the new Winter Models are here at prices that represent savings of one-third to one-half. This is your opportunity to save money on good reliable furs. Remember this, too; when you buy furs here, you know just what you are buying and you get exactly what you pay for.

NEW TRIMMED HATS

Very Special at $1.98

50 New Trimmed Hats of Silk Velvet and Hatter's Plush, trimmed with the season's newest novelties. These Hats are well worth $5.00 on sale the first day of our November sale Saturday at $1.98

$5.00 Plaid Silk Waists—November Sale $3.75

New lot of Plaid Silk Waists, just in, of Taffeta and Messaline.
You would pay $5.00 for these waists elsewhere, our November sale price is $3.75

This November Sale Offers Splendid Values in Good Warm Blankets and Comforts

Buy Several of Them Now While the Special Prices Prevail These cold nights are robbed of their terrors by these cosy, comforts and Blankets.

We sell only trustworthy kinds.
When you buy Blankets or Comforts here you know just what you are getting.

Take advantage of these special offerings.

$1.25 Cotton Blankets $1.00
Cotton Fleece Blankets, large double bed size (66x80) in tan and gray worth $1.25. November sale price $1.00

$1.00 Blankets for 89c
Cotton Fleece Blankets in tan and grey, double bed size, $1.00 value 89c

$3.50 Plaid Wool Blankets $2.98
Plaid Wool Blankets, size 66x80 in black and red, blue and white and black and white, regular $3.50 values, November sale $2.98

Fine Wool Blankets Special at $4.50 and $5.00

Fine Wool Blankets in white with pink and blue borders, edges bound with silk, large double bed size, best values we have ever offered at $4.50 and $5.00

$1.50 Comforts $1.19
Silkoline Covered Comforts, filled with pure white cotton, large double bed size and worth $1.50 sale price $1.19

SILK COVERED COMFORTS
Special at $2.98

Here is an extra good value in Comforts. These are Silk covered, quilted borders of pink, blue and yellow, centers are hand tied,
and filled with pure white cotton, double bed size. During this November sale the price will be $2.98

10c Outing 6c yd.

Another lot of those good quality Outing flannel that sell regularly for 10c, November sale ... 6c yd.

25c Taffeta Ribbons Special at 19c

New lot of beautiful Taffeta Ribbons, six inches wide, come in Pinks, Dresdens and Morie, suitable for hair bows, sashes and for making fancy Ribbon Novelties for Christmas. Regular 25c value, November sale 19c yd.

Thanksgiving Sale of Linens for Thanksgiving and After

These fresh and snowy Table Linens will add materially to the enjoyment of the Thanksgiving.

Here you will find Linens of superior qualities, in a good selection of handsome designs.

Now is the time to supply your Linen needs while the prices are low.

TABLE LINEN

35c Mercerized Damask for ... 25c

50c Mercerized Damask for ... 39c

75c Table Linen 60 inches wide 59c

$1 Table Linen 70 inches wide .79c

$1.25 Table Linen 70 in. wide at 99c

$1.65 Table Linen 72 in. wide $1.39

$2.85 Table Linen 86 in. wide $2.59

DOILIES

5 inch Scalloped edge Linen Doil-ies, special at 5c each

10 inch Scalloped edge Linen Doilies, special at 10c each

LINEN CRASH SPECIAL

10c Linen Crash, 18 in. wide, colored border, splendid value, November sale 3 yds for 25c

Table Linen Remnants

One big lot of Table Linen Remnants in 2, 2 1-4, 2 1-2 and 3 yd.
lengths at greatly reduced prices
during the sale.

Ladies' Outing Flannel Gowns Reduced for This November Sale

Ladies' $1.00 Outing Gowns for 69c
Ladies' $1.25 Outing Gowns for 79c
Ladies' $1.50 Outing Gowns for 89c

A. W. LEONARDSON CO.